Three Injured In Four Mishaps Over Weekend

Four accidents were reported in Ulster county during the weekend, three of them resulting in personal injuries.

Two of the accidents, both one car mishaps involving injuries to the drivers, occurred within 10 minutes of each other early Sunday morning.

At 2:15 a. m. Sunday Andrea De Onis, 19, of Gardiner, suffered face lacerations and possible internal injuries when the car she was driving, traveling south on the Tuthill-Galeville road, Gardiner, went off the east side of the road into a culvert and struck a tree, according to Highland State Police.

SHE WAS TAKEN to St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh, where her condition today was described as "fairly good."

At 2:25 a. m. Antonio Vito Restivo, 20, of Newburgh, traveling south on Route 9W, Milton, suffered a possible injury to his right leg when he fell asleep at the wheel, went off the west side of the highway and struck a stone embankment, according to Highland State Police.

At 11:30 p. m. Sunday Robert Kuhl, 41, of Rd 4, Kingston, traveling east on Main street in the village of Rosendale, was blinded by lights of an oncoming vehicle, ran off the right side of the highway and struck a tree, according to Kingston State Police. He was taken to Benedictine Hospital by Moylan Ambulance, treated for contusions of the face, chest and right leg and released. Trooper William Shurter and Charles Bundschuch investigated.

A 1947 SEDAN operated by David Gillespie, 69, of 45 South Partition street, Saugerties, traveling north on Route 9W opposite the Belvedere Restaurant at 2:30 p. m. Sunday, went out of control, crossed the highway and turned over, acording to Kingston State Police.

Trooper Raymond Kowalsky, who investigated, said Mr. Gillespie was attempting to pass another car, also traveling north, when he observed that the car ahead was preparing to make a left turn. He applied his brakes, throwing the car out of control. Mr. Gillespie claimed no injuries, Trooper Kowalsky said.

Asks Increased Assistance

Farm Head Says Price Supports No 'Cure-All'

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—The president of the New York Farm Bureau called today for increased government assistance to farmers other than price supports.

Don J. Wickham of Hector declared in a prepared speech, "All too much public attention is being directed at price supports as a cure-all in increasing net farm income."

He termed "unwise" the high support level that has been operating for the six so-called basic crops, wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco, rice and peanuts.

OTHER THAN price supports, Wickham said there were seven areas in which the government could help farmers. He listed them as:

1. Milk marketing orders.
2. Marketing agreements.
3. Practice payments for "sound" soil conservation.
4. Expansion of promotional programs financed by farmers to enlarge domestic markets for their products.
5. Expansion of the federal program to increase foreign markets by accepting payment in currencies of the countries concerned.
6. More research in use of surpluses.
7. Requiring that bread have a content of at least six per cent dried milk.

THE STATE GROUP was expected to adopt a resolution favoring the proposal for a comprehensive milk-marketing order for northern New Jersey and the New York metropolitan area. The suggestion is favored by three major New York state dairy farm groups and opposed by many New Jersey dairymen.

Donald Green of Chazy, vice president and head of the resolutions committee, said Saturday that his committee would present a resolution on the plan.

Green did not indicate what stand would be taken, but most dairy organization leaders expected it would favor the proposal.

Under it, a single federal regulation would govern the milk supply in the two areas. The portion in New York state now is under a federal order. New Jersey milk prices are regulated by the state.

Four Violations Are Reported in Gaza Strip Area

Jerusalem, Nov. 14 (AP)—Four border violations were charged yesterday by Israel and her Arab neighbors.

An Israeli military spokesman said a patrol was fired on from an Egyptian position near Nahal Oz, an Israeli settlement opposite Egyptian-held Gaza. He said the patrol suffered casualties but did not return the fire.

An Egyptian spokesman in Gaza said an Israeli coast guard launch violated Egyptian territorial waters on the coast of the Gaza strip. He said shore batteries opened first and forced the launch to withdraw.

Israel charged Jordan with two incidents.

AN ISRAELI army spokesman said armed Jordanians attempted to blow up a house in Rosh Haaydin village, four miles west of the Jordan border. He said some damage resulted, but there were no casualties.

Another Israeli spokesman said Jordan's soldiers entered Israel territory in the "Triangle area" further north, looting a herd of goats and kidnapped a shepherd.

IN CAIRO, reliable sources said Egypt and Israel had disagreed on two points in the latest UN proposals to ease tension along their border. The two points involve Israeli police in the El Auja demilitarized zone and the marking of the zone's borders.

Israel was said to be willing to withdraw troops, as proposed by the UN, but wants to keep police in the area.

The Egyptians were said to be insisting that police also be withdrawn. Egypt has charged that Israeli police in the zone were troops in disguise.

THE ISRAELIS were reported to be in favor of marking the western border of the area separating Egyt from the demilitarized zone but the Egyptians objected, saying the line might come to be regarded as a permanent Israeli-Egyptian frontier.

It was said the Egyptians would agree to marking the border all around the 95-square-

Car Recovered

A 1949 green sedan stolen between 8 and 11 p. m., Saturday from the parking lot of the Bob Steele auction on Route 9W near the Albany avenue by-pass, was recovered Sunday morning in the woods not far from the parking lot by Trooper Edward Shannon of the Kingston state police. The car, found abandoned, was apparently in good condition.

Woodstock Ceramics Artist Dies

Carl Walters, 72 World Famous

Woodstock, Nov. 14 — Carl Walters, 72, world famous ceramic sculptor, died early Saturday morning, at Dale Sanitarium, Saugerties. Mr. Walters, who lived on Ohayo Mountain, was one of the founders of the art colony at the Maverick. He had made his home in Woodstock since 1922. He was born in Fort Madison, Iowa.

The artist who was noted for his blue glaze technique, derived his inspiration from an exhibit at the Metropolitan Museum of some ancient Egyptian faience beads in the most beautiful color blue he had ever seen. He was consumed with a passion to recreate the blue—The glaze that had been lost to the world for centuries.

BEFORE coming to Woodstock he worked in his Greenwich Village apartment for 11 months to achieve the magnificent blue glaze. He knew nothing about ceramics but built a small kiln, and finding a small line of blue in a crucible one day, he went to work making pottery.

During the 11 months of experimenting he supported himself by making wrought iron candlesticks and other objects from junk in the plumbers yard below his apartment.

HIS FIRST exhibition of ceramics took place in 1921 in a grist mill at Cornish, N. H., an art colony in which Walters and his wife, who died last year, had spent the summer. Stranded without money to return to New York, Walters set to work making pottery in a kiln he had built. His pieces were an immediate success and by 1926 after coming to the Maverick, they had made enough money to go to Europe for four months. The most fascinating part of the trip to Walters was the two weeks spent in Venice, watching the glassblowers on Marano Island.

Upon their return to this country Walters built a glass furnace. Mrs. Juliana Force, organizing the Whitney Museum at the time, asked him to create some glass doors for the building. The beautiful glass doors containing panels of carved figures which were moved with the Whitney Museum to its new building uptown recently, were created after 13 months of experimenting.

CARL WALTERS CERAMICS are now in all the leading museums of the country. The characteristic color of his classic-shaped bowls and plates is the same deep blue-green that started his ceramic career. Often a design in black, with a

Po'keepsie Probe Still On in Death

Will Ask Seney More About Boy

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Seaman William Seney, 27, who told police conflicting stories about killing 13-year-old Gerald Foster, today pleaded guilty to a disorderly conduct charge.

Seney was sentenced to 15 days in jail by City Court Judge Bernard McCoy for hampering a police investigation. The district attorney's office said it still wanted to talk to Seney about the Foster death.

POLICE SAID the man called Poughkeepsie authorities from a New York city tavern Saturday night and told them that while intoxicated he had killed the boy, whose body had been found that day in a woods near Hyde Park. The boy had been missing since he ran away from his home here on Oct. 12.

After questioning Seney about the death, police reported yesterday his story contained many inconsistencies. "We don't think he had anything to do with it," said State Police Lt. Harry Sanderson.

Seney, whom police described as a "floater" recently living in the Bowery section of New York, was held on a disorderly conduct charge for allegedly "seriously disturbing a matter under police investigation."

SANDERSON SAID young Foster's death has not been definitely classed as homicide. "All I am prepared to say is that the autopsy showed he had a bad skull fracture and an injury to his left chest," the officer said.

Proposes $7½ Million More

Additional Money Sure To Fix Flood Damage

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Additional federal funds to help the states repair flood-damaged highways and bridges appear assured.

Sen. Martin (R-Pa.) said today he had been informed President Eisenhower will recommend a 7½ million dollar supplemental appropriation to help carry out the work.

Martin is senior Republican on the Senate Public Works Committee and an ex-officio member of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works. As such, he was among a number of congressmen sounded out on the recommendation by the Bureau of Public Roads.

The proposal, Martin was told, has been approved by the budget bureau. It is designed to make up a deficiency in funds set aside for emergency highway repairs.

Ten million dollars has been appropriated for the federal share of such work in the 12 months ending next June 30. With the states required to put up an equal amount, the total thus available this fiscal year is 20 million dollars. But estimates of storm-caused highway damage are 35 million dollars. The problem therefore is to fill the 15 million gap. This would be accomplished through the proposed supplemental appropriation—the government's 7½ million dollars plus the states' 7½ million making up the necessary total.

History in Undated Flight

Pilot Lives Following Supersonic Bailout

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (AP)—That day 8½ months ago started ordinarily enough for George Smith—taking his clothes to a laundry. Before it was over he became—painfully—the first pilot to bail out of a plan traveling supersonically and live.

The whites of his eyes were left bloodshot solid red. He bled in all parts of his body as his parachute snapped open. It is estimated he was subjected to a decelerative force of 40 times the pull of gravity. The 40 G's instantaneously increased Smith's weight from 215 pounds to the equivalent force of 8,000.

IF HE HAD bailed out just two seconds later—at the estimated 6,500 feet altitude—his parachute wouldn't have had time to open.

He and the air force disclosed yesterday his historic jump from the Super Sabre jet last Feb. 26. The security classification secret had been removed after medical experts studied the case.

THE FAST-SPOKEN, 6-foot-1 flier recalled:

"I left my apartment at Manhattan Beach to take my laundry out. But I decided to stop at North American to finish a report.

"An F100A was ready for its first flight so the dispatcher said, 'Why don't you take it up?' I put on a 'chute and life vest over my sports clothes and grabbed my helmet and oxygen mask."

At 35,000 feet above the ocean, Smith said, the plane began to

Martin P. Durkin, Former Labor Secretary Dies

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP) — Martin P. Durkin, the Democrat who was President Eisenhower's first secretary of labor, died yesterday after a long illness.

The 61-year-old union leader —he was president of the AFL Plumbers Union—had been hospitalized much of the time since he was stricken with a brain tumor 14 months ago.

DURKIN RESIGNED from the Eisenhower cabinet Sept. 10, 1953 after serving seven months. His term was the shortest of any labor secretary. He contended Eisenhower had vioalted a pledge to seek Taft-Hartley law changes which Durkin had recommended. The President replied that he never had broken a promise to anyone.

The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, an author of the labor law, had described Eisenhower's appointment of the lifelong Democrat as "incredible." The Senate, however, had confirmed his nomination by unanimous vote.

James P. Mitchell, the present secretary of labor and Durkin's successor yesterday termed Durkin "a great American who served labor, his state and nation with devotion and distinction" and who "earned the undying affection, admiration and gratitude of his fellow men."

DURKIN DIED at Georgetown University hospital, where

John Graham, 23 Held in $100,000

Denver, Nov. 14 (AP) — FBI agents today arrested John Gilbert Graham, 23, and charged him with sabotaging a United Air Lines plane that exploded in flight and carried his mother and 43 others to death Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo.

The restaurant and construction worker waived a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Harold S. Oakes on the charge. Oakes fixed Graham's bond at $100,000. He did not make the bond and was taken to the Denver county jail.

THE FBI SAID Graham, married and father of two children, took out an air flight insurance policy for $37,500 on his mother, Mrs. Daisy King, at the Denver airport minutes before she boarded the ill-fated DC6B plane on her way to Alaska. As far as could be learned, Graham has not collected the insurance.

Details of the sabotaging of the plane were withheld by the FBI. Graham in his construction work had become familiar with the handling of dynamite. An authoritative source said Graham would be eligible for one-fourth of his mother's estimated $150,000 estate in the event of her death.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS Board investigators have said the plane exploded in a "bomb-like blast" attributed to 'foreign' matter aboard the craft.

U. S. attorney Donald Kelley said he would confer later today with Marc Smith of Greeley, Colo., state district attorney for the area including the crash scene, and Bert Keating, Denver district attorney. Kelley said the prosecutors planned to research the law to determine what other charges might be filed.

The federal charge against Graham accused him under a section which makes it a crime to sabotage a national defense facility or materials. The code defines commercial airliners as among such facilities.

THE MAXIMUM penalty for conviction on this charge is 10

Two State Police Commanders Changed

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP) — A change in two troops commands in the New York State Police, effective Wednesday, was announced today by Superintendent Francis S. McGarvey.

Capt. Joseph A. Steeley, in charge of troop K at Troy, will join the divisional staff at the state capitol.

Capt. Daniel F. Glasheen, commander of troop K at Hawthorne, will succeed Steeley at Troy. Inspector John Lawson of troop K will become a captain and replace Glasheen.

A state police official said the changes were being made as part of a department policy to familiarize top commanders with all territories.

Asked whether the shifts were permanent, the spokesman said "as permanent as can be. We don't know what will come up tomorrow."

Fire Aboard Picket Ship

Fuel Tank Blast Kills Three and Injures Two

New York, Nov. 14 (AP) — Fire exploded a fuel tank aboard a Navy radar picket ship at dawn yesterday killing three men and injuring two others. The fire was brought under control six hours later.

The stricken ship, The Searcher, was on station at sea 125 miles southeast of here. Navy and Coast Guard vessels rushed to her aid.

An amphibious plane flew three of the most severely burned men to New York city. One of them died on the way to the Naval Hospital at St. Albans, Queens.

The bodies of the two others killed in the blaze were "completely carbonized," the Navy said.

The Searcher had recently started a new tour of patrol duty off the Atlantic coast east of Cape May, N. J.

A converted Liberty ship, she is crammed with expensive radar equipment—one of a number of such ships designed to provide off-shore warning of any unidentified plane approaching the coast. It cost four million dollars to fit her out for this job.

The fire broke out in the starboard tank and roared with intense heat through the engine room on the second deck and the midship superstructure. The blaze was confined to this area, the Navy later announced. It called the damage moderate.

There was no announcement

Big Question on Truck Drivers

Men Are Called Risks After Coronary Attack

San Francisco, Nov. 14 (AP)—Aging truck drivers who have coronary heart attacks are a problem for the oil industry, especially if they run tank trucks, a New York physician said today.

Whether such a worker, if he recovers from an attack, should go back to his old job is a serious question for employes because of the risks involved, Dr. M. N. Newquist told the American Petroleum Institute.

There is no way to forecast whether a man will have a second coronary attack and each case should be handled on its individual merits, said Dr. Newquist, who is a physician for the Texas Co.

In the past, he added, most tanker drivers have been permanently "grounded" afterward, but this often creates another problem because the individual usually is of the outdoor type who has had no training for a desk job and it is hard to find suitable work for him around a sales department or other divisions of an oil company.

Truck drivers, Dr. Newquist reported, have tended to become obese because increasing numbers of automatic devices have made their jobs easier. Along with this weight increase has been a rise in blood pressure, and this combination can lead to premature disability, he said.

In another report Dr. Howard P. Housse and Dr. Aram Glorig, ear specialists from the University of Southern California, said noise in industry probably will increase along with the growth of mechanization.

Efforts should be made to minimize noise, they added, with sound-absorbing materials, changes in machinery design and mounting, and by enclosing some of the areas where the racket is loudest.

There is no scientific proof of tales that noise can cause nervousness, fatigue, sterility and even death, the ear specialists said, but it does impair the hearing mechanism.

Martin is senior Republican on the Senate Public Works Committee and an ex-officio member of the Senate Appropriations Subcommittee on Public Works. As such, he was among a number of congressmen sounded out on the recommendation by the Bureau of Public Roads.

The proposal, Martin was told, has been approved by the budget bureau. It is designed to make up a deficiency in funds set aside for emergency highway repairs.

Ten million dollars has been appropriated for the federal share of such work in the 12 months ending next June 30. With the states required to put up an equal amount, the total thus available this fiscal year is 20 million dollars. But estimates of storm-caused highway damage are 35 million dollars. The problem therefore is to fill the 15 million gap. This would be accomplished through the proposed supplemental appropriation—the government's 7½ million dollars plus the states' 7½ million making up the necessary total.

History in Undated Flight

Pilot Lives Following Supersonic Bailout

Los Angeles, Nov. 14 (AP)—That day 8½ months ago started ordinarily enough for George Smith—taking his clothes to a laundry. Before it was over he became—painfully—the first pilot to bail out of a plan traveling supersonically and live.

The whites of his eyes were left bloodshot solid red. He bled in all parts of his body as his parachute snapped open. It is estimated he was subjected to a decelerative force of 40 times the pull of gravity. The 40 G's instantaneously increased Smith's weight from 215 pounds to the equivalent force of 8,000.

IF HE HAD bailed out just two seconds later—at the estimated 6,500 feet altitude—his parachute wouldn't have had time to open.

He and the air force disclosed yesterday his historic jump from the Super Sabre jet last Feb. 26. The security classification secret had been removed after medical experts studied the case.

THE FAST-SPOKEN, 6-foot-1 flier recalled:

"I left my apartment at Manhattan Beach to take my laundry out. But I decided to stop at North American to finish a report.

"An F100A was ready for its first flight so the dispatcher said, 'Why don't you take it up?' I put on a 'chute and life vest over my sports clothes and grabbed my helmet and oxygen mask."

At 35,000 feet above the ocean, Smith said, the plane began to

Martin P. Durkin, Former Labor Secretary Dies

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP) — Martin P. Durkin, the Democrat who was President Eisenhower's first secretary of labor, died yesterday after a long illness.

The 61-year-old union leader —he was president of the AFL Plumbers Union—had been hospitalized much of the time since he was stricken with a brain tumor 14 months ago.

DURKIN RESIGNED from the Eisenhower cabinet Sept. 10, 1953 after serving seven months. His term was the shortest of any labor secretary. He contended Eisenhower had vioalted a pledge to seek Taft-Hartley law changes which Durkin had recommended. The President replied that he never had broken a promise to anyone.

The late Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, an author of the labor law, had described Eisenhower's appointment of the lifelong Democrat as "incredible." The Senate, however, had confirmed his nomination by unanimous vote.

James P. Mitchell, the present secretary of labor and Durkin's successor yesterday termed Durkin "a great American who served labor, his state and nation with devotion and distinction" and who "earned the undying affection, admiration and gratitude of his fellow men."

DURKIN DIED at Georgetown University hospital, where

John Graham, 23 Held in $100,000

Denver, Nov. 14 (AP) — FBI agents today arrested John Gilbert Graham, 23, and charged him with sabotaging a United Air Lines plane that exploded in flight and carried his mother and 43 others to death Nov. 1 near Longmont, Colo.

The restaurant and construction worker waived a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Harold S. Oakes on the charge. Oakes fixed Graham's bond at $100,000. He did not make the bond and was taken to the Denver county jail.

THE FBI SAID Graham, married and father of two children, took out an air flight insurance policy for $37,500 on his mother, Mrs. Daisy King, at the Denver airport minutes before she boarded the ill-fated DC6B plane on her way to Alaska. As far as could be learned, Graham has not collected the insurance.

Details of the sabotaging of the plane were withheld by the FBI. Graham in his construction work had become familiar with the handling of dynamite. An authoritative source said Graham would be eligible for one-fourth of his mother's estimated $150,000 estate in the event of her death.

CIVIL AERONAUTICS Board investigators have said the plane exploded in a "bomb-like blast" attributed to 'foreign' matter aboard the craft.

U. S. attorney Donald Kelley said he would confer later today with Marc Smith of Greeley, Colo., state district attorney for the area including the crash scene, and Bert Keating, Denver district attorney. Kelley said the prosecutors planned to research the law to determine what other charges might be filed.

The federal charge against Graham accused him under a section which makes it a crime to sabotage a national defense facility or materials. The code defines commercial airliners as among such facilities.

THE MAXIMUM penalty for conviction on this charge is 10

Big Question on Truck Drivers

Men Are Called Risks After Coronary Attack

San Francisco, Nov. 14 (AP)—Aging truck drivers who have coronary heart attacks are a problem for the oil industry, especially if they run tank trucks, a New York physician said today.

Whether such a worker, if he recovers from an attack, should go back to his old job is a serious question for employes because of the risks involved, Dr. M. N. Newquist told the American Petroleum Institute.

There is no way to forecast whether a man will have a second coronary attack and each case should be handled on its individual merits, said Dr. Newquist, who is a physician for the Texas Co.

In the past, he added, most tanker drivers have been permanently "grounded" afterward, but this often creates another problem because the individual usually is of the outdoor type who has had no training for a desk job and it is hard to find suitable work for him around a sales department or other divisions of an oil company.

Truck drivers, Dr. Newquist reported, have tended to become obese because increasing numbers of automatic devices have made their jobs easier. Along with this weight increase has been a rise in blood pressure, and this combination can lead to premature disability, he said.

In another report Dr. Howard P. Housse and Dr. Aram Glorig, ear specialists from the University of Southern California, said noise in industry probably will increase along with the growth of mechanization.

Efforts should be made to minimize noise, they added, with sound-absorbing materials, changes in machinery design and mounting, and by enclosing some of the areas where the racket is loudest.

There is no scientific proof of tales that noise can cause nervousness, fatigue, sterility and even death, the ear specialists said, but it does impair the hearing mechanism.

To Hold Inquest In Case of Two Gunshot Deaths

Potsdam, Nov. 14 (AP)—An inquest will be held in the case of a father and son found in their burning farm home, dead of gunshot wounds in the head.

Inspector E. J. McDowell of the state police said it was believed that Orville Riggs, 44, had killed his ailing father, Charles, 77, and himself Saturday night.

The cause of the fire was not determined.

Mrs. Florence Dunlop, St. Lawrence county coroner, said she would hold an inquest. She set no date.

Dr. Robert Rogers, pathologist, reported after autopsies that both men had been killed by shots from a .250-.300 Savage rifle, which was found near the son's body.

FIREMEN FOUND the house locked when they arrived. One fireman suffered minor injuries breaking in a door. The frame house, about nine miles southeast of Potsdam, burned down.

The fire apparently started near a woodshed attached to the rear of the house.

Orville's body was found in a rear bedroom. The father's body was in the front of the house. The body of a dog that has been shot also was found.

McDowell said investigators had found a diary kept by Orville in which he mentioned that his father was ill. The inspector said that the last entry was under Nov. 9. Neighbors were quoted as saying that was the day the elder Riggs became bedridden.

RUSSIA WAGES "WAR BY RUBLE"—With ruble-loaded trade deals as springboards, Russia is trying to leap right over the military defense chain the West has set up along he.. southern borders facing the strategically critical Middle East. That's what Washington observers read into Moscow's current splurge of proposed trade, military and economic aid and deals with Egypt and other Arab states. Map shows graphically the danger for the West if Reds' "ruble diplomacy" succeeds in checkmating the Baghdad defense pact. This pact links Turkey, Iraq, Iran and Pakistan to Europe's NATO chain. In addition, the Communists are not neglecting their old technique of stirring up troubled waters in which they can fish. Arming Arab League states could precipitate all-out Israeli-Arab warfare.

Navy Streamlines System for Noting Faulty Plane Parts

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The navy said today it has adopted a streamlined system for reporting faulty aircraft parts. It forecast that fewer plane accidents, money saving and design improvements would result.

The new system—known as FUR for "failure or unsatisfactory reports"—utilizes simplified forms, microfilm and automatic business machines instead of the complicated information sheets filled out by navy fliers in the past. The system, designed by the Recordak Corp., went into effect last June 1.

Cmdr. C. F. Fischer, head of the FUR program, said in a statement the new system "will reveal the failures of faulty parts far quicker than heretofore and enable the bureau (of aeronautics) immediately to halt production of items which otherwise might have to be rejected later."

AS A RESULT of the short-cut reporting system, Fischer said the aircraft accident toll can be kept to a minimum, a "considerable saving of the taxpayers' money" is possible, and design improvements in new aircraft are "bound to result."

The navy said that since the program began 5½ months ago, an average of more than 1,000 reports a day have been processed at the bureau's aviation supply office in Philadelphia.

Under this system, reports sent in from the field are microfilmed. All pertinent information is punched on business machine cards equipped with tiny windows in which the microfilm is inserted.

Tabulating machines prepare bi-monthly digests of all FUR reports, of which more than 1,100 copies are distributed to naval aircraft units.

MONTHLY statistical reports of the FUR totals are made available to more than 125 field inspection officers and technical staff.

In tabulating the results, reports of identical failures appear in groups, along with the rate trend during each of the previous four months. If any of these groups appears unusually large or a definite upward trend is discovered, the "trouble area" immediately is pinpointed.

Three Apartments Near Mansion on Fire

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Three connecting apartment houses near the governor's mansion were damaged by fire Saturday night.

The mansion was not affected. Gov. Harriman was away at the time.

Two firemen were overcome by smoke and a man was injured when he kicked down a door to enter one apartment.

The flames were confined to wooden porches at the rear of the three-story brick buildings (at 61, 63 and 65 Myrtle avenue) in downtown Albany. A fourth building (at 59 Myrtle avenue) was damaged by water, firemen said.

The backs of the houses run along the side of the mansion property. A wide lawn separates them from the mansion itself.

Harriman was in Syracuse, where he had attended the Colgate-Syracuse football game.

Welfare Parley Starts

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—The 56th annual meeting of the New York State Welfare Conference got under way here today. Gov. Harriman was scheduled to speak before the group at a dinner meeting tonight.

States Are Asked To Help Restore Disabled Folk

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom today invited state governors to give "full support" to the federal-state programs for restoring disabled persons to useful lives.

In letters to governors of each of the states and territories, Folsom called attention to the fact that Congress appropriated 33¾ million dollars for the federal share of the program during the year ending next June 30, a 6¾ million increase over the preceding year.

"The federal government has made substantial increases in its appropriations for vocational rehabilitation," Folsom told the governors. "It is very clear, however, that the success of this program depends upon the financial support given it by the several states."

THE SECRETARY quoted Miss Mary E. Switzer, director of the office of vocational rehabilitation, as saying the states will have approximately $19,400,000 available this year for the vocational education program, which should be enough to permit matching of all appropriated federal funds.

However, Miss Switzer said in her report that "while the total appears to be adequate, the picture is spotty, with some states exceeding the required appropriations and others only partially meeting the expected goals."

Folsom said that his departments program is designed to increase the number of disabled persons restored to employment each year from the current level of 58,000 to 200,000.

New Antibiotic Proves Effective Against TB

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—New York medical college scientists report that a new antibiotic, cycloserine, has proved effective against a wide variety of human diseases, despite disappointing laboratory tests on animals.

The antibiotic, called "CS," has been particularly effective against tuberculosis, they said in a report yesterday. It may someday be a "major weapon" against the disease, they added.

The scientists said laboratory tests of "CS" were so poor that it would normally have been abandoned. For reasons not explained, they tested it on humans anyway and got "dramatic" results.

Lutheran Pastor Afraid Old War Machine to Return

Rochester, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Dr. Martin Neimoller, German Lutheran pastor, says he fears the new West German army "will be like the old (German) war machine."

Dr. Neimoller, who spent eight years in a Nazi concentration camp for his opposition to the Hitler regime, made the statement in an interview here yesterday. He is on a lecture tour.

He was asked to comment on the ceremonies establishing West Germany's army at Bonn Saturday.

Dr. Neimoller said "it looks like a return to the continent's concept of military being a power within the government."

"The Scandinavian countries and Switzerland," he added, "have military organizations that are true citizens armies, but they are the exceptions. I am afraid the new German army will be like the old war machine."

DEMOCRATS IMPROVE POSITION

It's tricky enough trying to gauge the meaning of a general election in a non-presidential year. The job is still tougher when the balloting is mostly local, as it was this time.

What emerges from the scattered voting around the country:

Democrats won in a good many places where they were expected to.

They also triumphed in some spots held by Republicans, while the latter did not make nearly as heavy inroads against Democratic incumbents.

As a prime example, Democrats knocked out GOP mayoral regimes in several key Indiana cities, including Indianapolis, Evansville, South Bend and Hammond, an industrial suburb of Chicago. Indiana usually is thought of as a Republican stronghold.

But as a sign of a national trend, such victories have very little value. Experience has taught that even smashing conquests in general elections in off-years are sometimes sharply reversed in presidential years.

Back in 1938, Republicans picked off 80 Democratic congressional seats and seemed to be on the march. Two years later, the late President Roosevelt won a third term and actually widened the Democrats' congressional margin.

About all that can be said of the far less important 1955 returns as an indicator is that they will unquestionably lend heart to the Democrats. Even though limited, they are favorable and they do not suggest any marked change from 1954 when the party retained Congress and seized many new governorships.

Most practically, the Democrats' local victories mean more nourishment for their party at the grass roots. A party lives by holding office. Every time it wins it gains potential strength for a greater fight. That was one of the principal effects of the sweep of governorships last year.

Nothing that has happened at the polls this year or in 1954 constitutes convincing evidence that the Democrats will capture the White House in 1956, with or without President Eisenhower as an adversary. But these two elections have improved the Democrats' strategic position materially.

They will have a better organizational structure at state and local levels next time than they had in 1952. Only time will tell whether they will be able to put the needed meat on these sturdier bones.

EASING THE LOAD

Attorney General Herbert Brownell is conducting a study of ways in which some of the burdens presently carried by the President of the United States might be lifted from his shoulders. It is even possible that special legislation may be sought to permit the President to delegate some of the functions which now consume so much of his time and energy.

Plans are also under way to enable the Vice President to take on more of the ceremonial functions of the Presidency. A staggering amount of the President's time is spent in ceremonies and in acting as a kind of official national greeter. It is proposed that the Vice President be given a larger staff and an official residence to make it simpler for him to do many of the jobs now done by the President.

It has been said that the moves to ease the burdens of the President are being taken in the hope that President Eisenhower might be persuaded to seek re-election despite his recent heart attack. This may be true. The idea is worthwhile in any case and deserves to be followed through.

Simple business efficiency demands that an officer with all the responsibility and time-consuming duties of the President be assisted in every way possible and relieved of minor burdens so that he can better bear the larger ones. The steps taken to make life in the White House easier for President Eisenhower when he returns to work may help to prolong the life and the usefulness of all the men who will hold that high office in the future.

THEY DIDN'T TELL

It is startling, at this date, to read that President Roosevelt and Secretary of War Stimson actually believed that their Manhattan Project and the atom bomb were so secret that they would not tell Vice President Harry Truman about it. After Truman held his first Cabinet meeting as President, Stimson stayed behind to tell him what was going on. Truman says in his memoirs:

". . . Stimson told me that he wanted me to know about an immense project that was under way—a project looking to the development of a new explosive of almost unbelievable destructive power. That was all he felt free to say at the time, and his statement left me puzzled. It was the first bit of information that had come to me about the atomic bomb, but he gave me no details. . . ."

If this business was really so secret, why did not the Pentagon set up an adequate security system? The FBI was kept out of it but not Dr. Klaus Fuchs who, although a known Communist, was permitted to enter this country and to work at the Manhattan Project. We now know that Fuchs stole the bomb with the assistance of the Rosenberg spy ring. What else was stolen there we do not know.

But not only was the Vice President kept in ignorance but the Congress. Harry Truman recounts that when he was chairman of a Senate Committee investigating the National Defense, Stimson came to him. This is the way Truman recounts it:

"'Senator,' the Secretary (Stimson) told me as he sat beside my desk, 'I can't tell you what it is, but it is the greatest project in the history of the world. It is most top secret. Many of the people who are actually engaged in the work have no idea what it is, and we who do would appreciate your not going into those plants.'"

Perhaps had Harry Truman made his investigation, he would have learned that the secret was already out, that the Russians had already stolen it, that the United States was living in a fool's paradise.

The day may come when the British government will pluck up the courage to tell Parliament what they know about the crimes of Burgess and Maclean. When they were in this country as British officials, they were Russian agents. Whatever passed between the American and British governments they had.

General Douglas MacArthur has testified that his battle orders were passed on to the enemy in the Korean War. He investigated thoroughly and there is no doubt in his mind that there was no leak in Korea and no leak in Tokyo. The leak must have been in Washington. The Chinese Communists, for instance, knew, and it has been established by captured documents, that he was forbidden to pursue the enemy into the Manchurian sanctuary. In fact, there is belief that the Chinese Communists knew that MacArthur would receive such an order before MacArthur did.

There has been some speculation that the leak was in the State Department. Suppose the American government engaged upon discussions with the British government concerning this decision and the documents, back and forth, passed over the desks of Burgess and Maclean. And suppose they made copies and passed them on to their Russian masters. Knowledge of the truth, if it did nothing else, would cleanse the reputations of suspected Americans.

Herbert Morrison in the British Parliament has been pressing Sir Anthony Eden to tell the whole truth about these scoundrels. We do not know how much Eden knows, but the explanations given thus far are not plausible and are apparently not being accepted in Great Britain.

From the American standpoint, it would be sufficient if we were told that the discussion about the Manchurian sanctuary did pass over the Burgess and Maclean desks because it would explain the difficulties which General MacArthur faced; it would explain the death of General Walton H. Walker; it would force Dean Acheson's critics to revise their judgment of him.

Our own State Department must know more about this situation than has been made public. Perhaps the cover-up is a matter of habit. It is even possible that it is this habit which has produced so much rancor against Congressional investigations. But the truth must be revealed in Washington or in London because men's historic reputations are at stake, and just as Harry Truman wrote his memoirs, so will these other men.

HOW WOULD WE RESPOND TO PANIC?

"Americans rarely panic as a result of a major disaster. It is realized that this statement has been made on a number of occasions by individuals of varying prominence in the field of disaster research and is again made here as always, without substantial support. In like manner it has been repeatedly implied that Americans are most likely to turn to tremendous reserves of courage, generosity and heroism in times of disaster than to panic. Such statements are indeed comforting and encouraging and possibly true but, unfortunately, are based on studies involving isolated incidents such as tornadoes, air crashes, large fires and alarming radio broadcasts which fail to reveal the entire situation. The condition for studying the reactions of the American people during a disaster, as that arising from an atomic attack, has never presented itself — we trust that such will never be. Not too much reliance can be placed on the numerous attempts through psychological theory to predict with any degree of accuracy what will happen in the event of an atomic disaster and how we, as Americans, will respond. Our shores and homeland have never been invaded by the devastating weapons of modern war."

I am quoting from an article in the "Journal of the American Medical Association" by Dr. Elmer L. Caveny of the Medical College of Alabama who points out with concern the apathy on the part of the public to civil defense. This fact is worrying those in positions of responsibility for safeguarding the civilian population. It has been suggested that by giving serious consideration to certain ideas relating to mental health in its current enthusiastic nationwide program, the civil defense program may, in turn, be brought more in line with daily living experiences. Preparedness for the emotional aspects of disaster is of the same long-range pattern as is the preparedness for the inevitable crisis of everyday living.

In civil defense preparedness, the communities with well operating mental health programs are better prepared to accept sudden change and emotional than the ones that do not have them. We must remember that the American people are not accustomed to the ever-present possibility of being attacked on their homeland. "The Americans do not know how to deal with their own power, nor how to appraise their own insecurity, much less to feel comfortable in the role of being constantly held responsible for the preservation of world peace. Democracy is a homely, personal thing. Its strength depends utterly upon the individual, his wisdom, and qualities of moral goodness. The psychological, emotional, and spiritual resources of mature citizens will be of critical importance to the survival of our nation should atomic war reach our homeland. An effective level of common purpose and sound state of mind, achieved through nationwide civil defense and mental health programs, is essential in maintaining the will to resist victoriously the enemy."

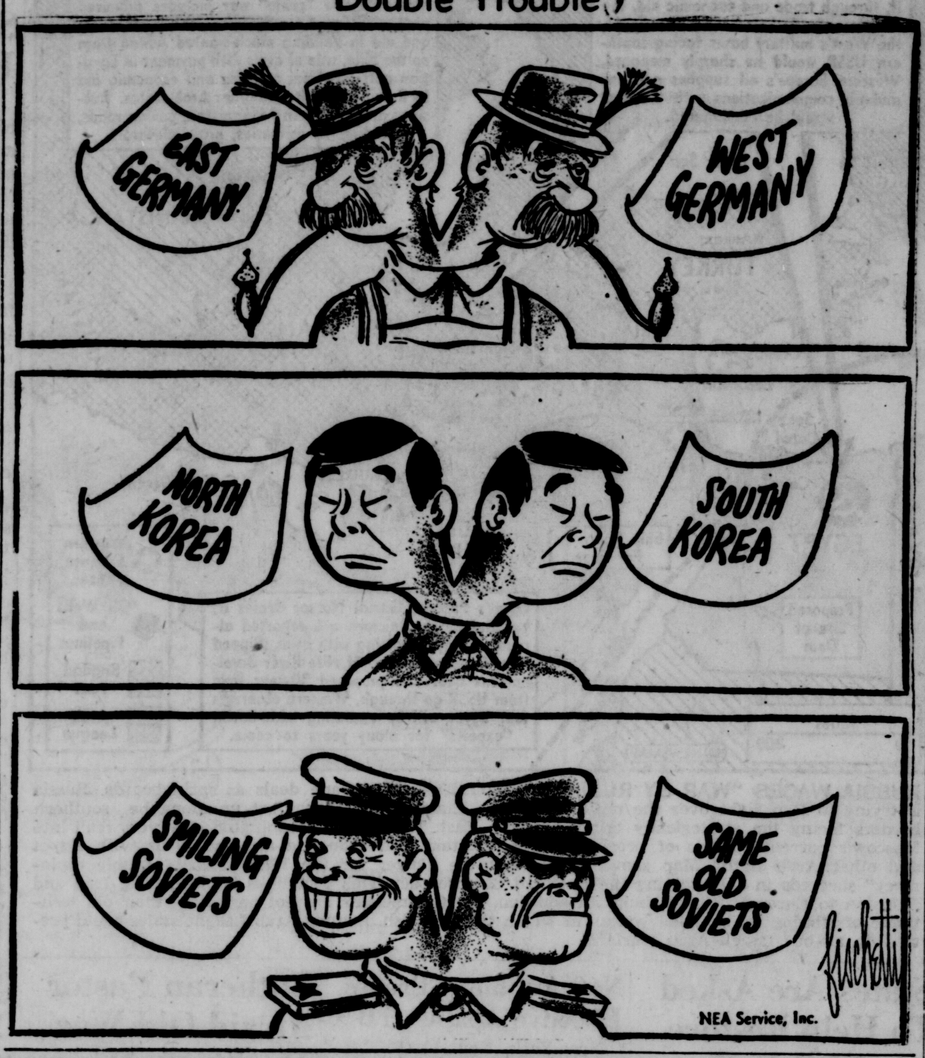
Double Trouble



Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

Washington, (NEA) — Eighty-eight per cent of the Washington correspondents believe President Eisenhower will not be a candidate for re-election.

Forty-seven per cent of the newsmen believe that the Republicans cannot win the election if Ike isn't the candidate. But a close 46 per cent believe the GOP can win even if Ike doesn't run. Seven per cent won't hazard a guess on this point.

Seventy per cent of the correspondents now believe U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren of California will not consent to become a candidate even if Eisenhower bows out. Twenty-four per cent think Warren will run. Six per cent are undecided.

But in another relatively close vote on a key question, 52 per cent of the correspondents believe th GOP National Convention will not nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon to head the ticket if Ike doesn't run. Thirty-eight per cent believe the convention will nominate Nixon. Ten per cent express no opinion.

If the Washington press and radio corps were naming the likeliest 1956 candidates today, the tickets would be:

Democrats—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver. Republicans—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

THESE ARE THE highlights of a post-card survey just made by NEA Service for this column. The poll was compiled one year ahead of Election Day, 1956, and on the eve of President Eisenhower's return to Washington from Denver.

In all, 1065 daily newspaper, magazine, radio and television correspondents accredited to the Congressional press galleries were polled. Three hundred and thirty answered the six top political questions put to them. A 30 per cent reply is considered a good return for a fair cross section on how reporters close to the situation size up today's trends.

While the newsmen had definite yes-or-no opinions on the main political currents, they were all over the lot in naming their first, second and third choices for the likeliest presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

The only one who showed up with a clear majority lead was Governor Stevenson. He received 88 per cent first-choice votes, nine per cent second choice and two per cent third choice.

In second place, but not even close to Stevenson's total, was Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. He got five per cent first-choice, 50 per cent second-choice and 23 per cent third. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee ran third with three per cent first-choice, 23 per cent second-choice and 30 yer cent third.

GOV. FRANK J. LAUSCHE of Ohio ran a poor fourth with only two votes to head the ticket. He got seven per cent as second-choice candidate and 15 per cent third choice.

Fourteen other Democrats—too many to name here—were suggested for the Presidency. But none got more than a few scattered votes.

For the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, Sen. Kefauver came out ahead with 34 per cent first-choice votes. Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee was scond with nine per cent first-choice votes. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was third, but with only four per cent first-choice votes.

Surprisingly, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, who was Stevenson's running mate in 1952, got only three-to-five per cent of either first, second or third choice for the vice-presidency. In all, 45 Democrats were suggested for the vice-presidency. This indicates how wide open this race may be.

ON THE REPUBLICAN tally, with only 11 per cent of the newsmen believing President Eisenhower will run for a second term, it followed naturally that only eight per cent gave him as their first choice.

Chief Justice Warren was second with 19 per cent first-choice votes. President Eisenhower was third, and Gov. Thomas F. Dewey of New York and Sen. William Knowland of California were tied for fourth with five per cent of the first-choice votes.

Twenty-six Republicans were named as Presidential possibilities. Aside from those mentioned, none got more than four votes.

Nixon also headed the poll as likeliest vice-presidential candidate, with 17 per cent first-choice votes. Gov. Herter was next with 11 per cent first-choice votes. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey tied for third place with 3.2 per cent of first, second and third-choice votes. Nobody alse showed any strength at all. The reporters' votes were scattered among 53 extremely dark horses.

A Proposal That Eisenhower Head Both Tickets in 1956

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 14 — Based upon a widely held belief that the American people ought not to be deprived of the services of President Eisenhower in a world crisis, there have been all sorts of suggestions advanced as to how to arrange satisfactorily for presidential succession if, in the event of re-election, he may perhaps be unable to continue in office for a full term, or wishes to resign when the emergency is over.

The latest suggestion — which reflects what at one time was Mr. Eisenhower's own thinking —calls for his nomination for President on both the Democratic and the Republican tickets, with each party naming a different candidate for the vice presidency.

Thus if, for example, the Democratic ticket in 1956 were Eisenhower and Stevenson, and if the Republican ticket were Eisenhower and Nixon, the two-party system would be preserved, because at the meeting of the electoral college, after the November election, the electors would cast their ballots for Eisenhower for President, and if the Democrats had won the national election, their own vice presidential nominee would be inaugurated.

LIKEWISE the two-party system would be maintained in the congressional elections, which would in no way be affected by the presence of the same presidential nominee at the top of the two major party tickets.

The naming of the same man on two tickets is not unusual in state and congressional elections. Senator Knowland, for instance, was elected in 1952 after having won the Democratic as well as the Republican nomination in the California primaries. Earl Warren, at present chief justice, was elected governor of California on both tickets in 1946.

Although it has not been disclosed before, it was Dwight Eisenhower, himself, who first broached the idea of running as a non-partisan nominee himself for the presidency. It happened in 1946, when, as chief of staff of the U. S. Army, he was visiting General MacArthur, then in Tokyo as the supreme commander of the allied forces in the Far East.

AFTER THE DAY'S inspection tasks were over and the two men realaxed in the evening, the talk turned to politics back home. In the press at that time, General Eisenhower's name was being prominently mentioned as a possible presidential nominee and there was speculation as to whether he would accept a Democratic or a Republican nomination. General MacArthur asked Ike if he intended to be a presidential candidate. General Eisenhower replied that he would be if he could be assured of the nomination on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets. He said he was convinced it was feasible. General MacArthur argued that this wasn't practical under the two-party system, but the two men were talking at that time about a normal situation in American politics.

Today the world crisis is such that precedents might readily be shattered. When, for example, in the middle of World War II, it seemed to the American people desirable to break with tradition and elect a president for a third and a fourth term, they did so. Shortly after the close of World War I, the "New York World"—a Democratic newspaper of nation-wide influence and a staunch supporter of President Wilson—in an editorial written by the late Frank Cobb, who was a distinguished journalist of those days, proposed that Herbert Hoover, then food administrator and very popular, be nominated for the presidency in 1920 by both political parties.

To name Mr. Eisenhower on both the Republican and Democratic tickets for a second term would violate no constitutional provision and would only deviate from a political habit. The latter would not in itself be a strong enough reason to overcome the public demand that the man should be permitted to serve as long as he is able.

POLITICIANS DO NOT like to change their habitual procedures, but it shouldn't disturb them too much. Certainly, judging from the recent statements of Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, who wants the national conventions to pick the vice presidential nominee ahead of the president, and who wants also a constitutional amendment to clear up the status of the vice president when a president is unable to serve, there is a tendency now to examine anew the whole problem of presidential succession and consider new methods.

The idea of naming Ike on both tickets is a simple solution, for it doesn't involve constitutional complications of any kind and meets a unique problem in the annuals of history.

Since the vice presidency moreover, would be held by the man whose political party had won the national election, he would have been tested on the fundamental issues that separate the parties and he would be chosen with the full knowledge of the voters that some time during the second term the president might resign in his favor.

THE PLAN WOULD present a challenge to both parties. There are, for instance, many Democratic leaders who are convinced that Stevenson could outrun Nixon. It is a chance for the Democrats to obtain all the advantages the Republicans would have in placing the popular Eisenhower at the top of the ticket without the disadvantage to the Democrats of trying to run a presidential nominee against Eisenhower.

Also, if the Republicans are so sure that "peace and prosperity" is a winning slogan for them, they should welcome the chance to fight the campaign on the vice presidential level. For if Ike should pledge himself to retire when the international emergency were over, the "number two" man would become president.

If the Democrats won Congress as well as the vice presidency they would also have the "number three" man in presidential succession. Few people realize that if President Eisenhower's illness recently had proved more serious, and if Vice President Nixon had succeeded him, then in the event anything had happened to Mr. Nixon, Speaker Rayburn, a Democrat, would, under the present law of presidential succession, have been inaugurated President.

The Republicans, of course, would, if they won the vice presidency and carried Congress, have their own "number two" and "number three" man in line to succeed the President.

The plan of a joint nomination for the Presidency offers, therefore, an equal opportunity to both parties—and, besides, it would conserve the health of Mr. Eisenhower by sparing him the strain of an active campaign.

Resistance to School Desegregation Active

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — Determined opposition to the Supreme Court's decisions against public school segregation is picking up momentum in the south, according to latest reports received here.

The resistance is active, organized and widespread. In most cases, however, it does not follow the violent pattern of the discredited Ku Klux Klan. A number of its participants are respected community leaders.

At least 21 private organizations from Delaware, to Arkansas to Alabama are openly opposing compliance with the Supreme Court's decrees outlawing public school segregation. Six of them have sprung up in the last month.

These figures are based on information received by the Southern Education Reporting Service, an independent organization in Nashville, Tenn., set up to report objectively all developments in areas affected by the Court decisions. It's monthly publication is called "Southern School News."

* * *

HERE IS THE OPPOSITION breakdown where it is most effective.

Strongest pro-segregation activity comes from the Citizens' Council movement. It claims 50,000 members in Mississippi and is reported to be busy in Alabama and Louisiana. About 40 local councils have been formed in South Carolina.

The States Rights Council in Georgia is taking on state-wide importance. Opposition in Tennessee is centered in the Federation of Constitutional Government.

Defenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberty is working against mixed classrooms in Virginia. North Carolina has its Patriots of North Carolina, Inc.

"Characteristic of many of these groups but not all of them, is the fact that their leadership often is top drawer and that the groups themselves repeatedly renounce violence," says Don Shoemaker, executive director of the Southern Education Reporting Service.

"They are very careful to say they don't believe in violent resolution of this question. Some frankly say they are exerting economic and other pressure on Negroes not to petition for compliance with Supreme Court decisions. Others deny it."

Perhaps the most favorable case for these opposition groups was made recently by South Carolina's Lt. Gov. Ernest F. Hollings. He said:

"It is my belief that the Citizens' Council, by mobilizing the best leadership at the community level, can help to restore decency in government and maintain peace and security for all people, both white and Negro. I am glad that responsible spokesmen for the movement say they do not use organized economic pressure as a weapon against anyone."

It is pointed out, however, that pressure is being exerted by Citizens' Councils and other groups.

For example in Selma, Ala., heart of the state's Negro belt, Southern School News reports that 16 out of 29 Negroes who signed a desegregation petition were fired from their jobs. This estimate was given by Alston Keith, chairman of the Citizens' Council there.

* * *

He called the action "spontaneous" on the part of the respective employers. However, he added, "I don't believe there would have been the unity of action that there was without the educational work of the Citizens' Council."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, takes a dim view of the upswing of opposition groups.

"In the fight to attain full citizenship rights, the Negro is faced with a conspiracy to deny equality," he charges. "Here and there dotting the South, organizations have sprung up overnight. Some with fancy names like Virginia's Defenders of State Sovereignty like the White Citizens' Councils of Mississippi, which frankly declare their anti-Negro purpose."

One thing is certain. The extent of organized opposition is greater than many experts believe it would be. The Supreme Court's second ruling last May is now seen as the foremost factor for triggering this activity.

* * *

In effect, the Court told local school authorities they must make a prompt and reasonable start towards desegregation within practical limitations.

This stirred up many groups to resist, delay and stall. They took on many different names. Here are some that have not been noted:

White America, Inc. (Arkansas), Friends of Segregated Schools (Mississippi), Christian Americans Segregation Association of Delaware, Maryland Petition Committee, Tennessee Society to Maintain Segregation.

There are other one-man outfits, some of which are suspect as crackpot. Also among the 21 organizations is the National Association for the Advancement of White People, headed by Bryant Bowles, a resident of southern Delaware. But among responsible Southerners it is considered a reckless hate group.

DEMOCRATS IMPROVE POSITION

It's tricky enough trying to gauge the meaning of a general election in a non-presidential year. The job is still tougher when the balloting is mostly local, as it was this time.

What emerges from the scattered voting around the country:

Democrats won in a good many places where they were expected to.

They also triumphed in some spots held by Republicans, while the latter did not make nearly as heavy inroads against Democratic incumbents.

As a prime example, Democrats knocked out GOP mayoral regimes in several key Indiana cities, including Indianapolis, Evansville, South Bend and Hammond, an industrial suburb of Chicago. Indiana usually is thought of as a Republican stronghold.

But as a sign of a national trend, such victories have very little value. Experience has taught that even smashing conquests in general elections in off-years are sometimes sharply reversed in presidential years.

Back in 1938, Republicans picked off 80 Democratic congressional seats and seemed to be on the march. Two years later, the late President Roosevelt won a third term and actually widened the Democrats' congressional margin.

About all that can be said of the far less important 1955 returns as an indicator is that they will unquestionably lend heart to the Democrats. Even though limited, they are favorable and they do not suggest any marked change from 1954 when the party retained Congress and seized many new governorships.

Most practically, the Democrats' local victories mean more nourishment for their party at the grass roots. A party lives by holding office. Every time it wins it gains potential strength for a greater fight. That was one of the principal effects of the sweep of governorships last year.

Nothing that has happened at the polls this year or in 1954 constitutes convincing evidence that the Democrats will capture the White House in 1956, with or without President Eisenhower as an adversary. But these two elections have improved the Democrats' strategic position materially.

They will have a better organizational structure at state and local levels next time than they had in 1952. Only time will tell whether they will be able to put the needed meat on these sturdier bones.

Such statements are indeed comforting and encouraging and possibly true but, unfortunately, are based on studies involving isolated incidents such as tornadoes, air crashes, large fires and alarming radio broadcasts which fail to reveal the entire situation. The condition for studying the reactions of the American people during a disaster, as that arising from an atomic attack, has never presented itself — we trust that such will never be. Not too much reliance can be placed on the numerous attempts through psychological theory to predict with any degree of accuracy what will happen in the event of an atomic disaster and how we, as Americans, will respond. Our shores and homeland have never been invaded by the devastating weapons of modern war."

I am quoting from an article in the "Journal of the American Medical Association" by Dr. Elmer L. Caveny of the Medical College of Alabama who points out with concern the apathy on the part of the public to civil defense. This fact is worrying those in positions of responsibility for safeguarding the civilian population. It has been suggested that by giving serious consideration to certain ideas relating to mental health in its current enthusiastic nationwide program, the civil defense program may, in turn, be brought more in line with daily living experiences. Preparedness for the emotional aspects of disaster is of the same long-range pattern as is the preparedness for the inevitable crisis of everyday living.

In civil defense preparedness, the communities with well operating mental health programs are better prepared to accept sudden change and emotional than the ones that do not have them. We must remember that the American people are not accustomed to the ever-present possibility of being attacked on their homeland. "The Americans do not know how to deal with their own power, nor how to appraise their own insecurity, much less to feel comfortable in the role of being constantly held responsible for the preservation of world peace. Democracy is a homely, personal thing. Its strength depends utterly upon the individual, his wisdom, and qualities of moral goodness. The psychological, emotional, and spiritual resources of mature citizens will be of critical importance to the survival of our nation should atomic war reach our homeland. An effective level of common purpose and sound state of mind, achieved through nationwide civil defense and mental health programs, is essential in maintaining the will to resist victoriously the enemy."

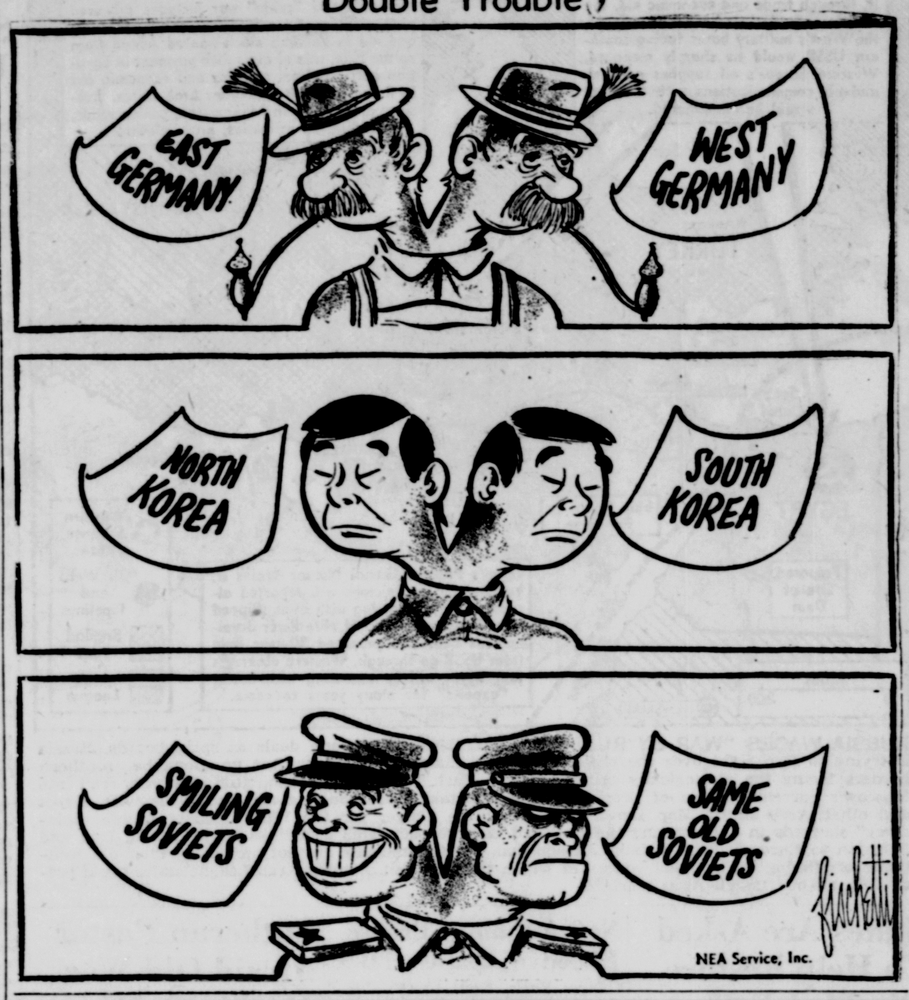
Double Trouble



Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON

Washington, (NEA) — Eighty-eight per cent of the Washington correspondents believe President Eisenhower will not be a candidate for re-election.

Forty-seven per cent of the newsmen believe that the Republicans cannot win the election if Ike isn't the candidate. But a close 46 per cent believe the GOP can win even if Ike doesn't run. Seven per cent won't hazard a guess on this point.

Seventy per cent of the correspondents now believe U.S. Chief Justice Earl Warren of California will not consent to become a candidate even if Eisenhower bows out. Twenty-four per cent think Warren will run. Six per cent are undecided.

But in another relatively close vote on a key question, 52 per cent of the correspondents believe th GOP National Convention will not nominate Vice President Richard M. Nixon to head the ticket if Ike doesn't run. Thirty-eight per cent believe the convention will nominate Nixon. Ten per cent express no opinion.

If the Washington press and radio corps were naming the likeliest 1956 candidates today, the tickets would be:

Democrats—Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver. Republicans—Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Gov. Christian A. Herter of Massachusetts.

THESE ARE THE highlights of a post-card survey just made by NEA Service for this column. The poll was compiled one year ahead of Election Day, 1956, and on the eve of President Eisenhower's return to Washington from Denver.

In all, 1065 daily newspaper, magazine, radio and television correspondents accredited to the Congressional press galleries were polled. Three hundred and thirty answered the six top political questions put to them. A 30 per cent reply is considered a good return for a fair cross section on how reporters close to the situation size up today's trends.

While the newsmen had definite yes-or-no opinions on the main political currents, they were all over the lot in naming their first, second and third choices for the likeliest presidential and vice-presidential candidates.

The only one who showed up with a clear majority lead was Governor Stevenson. He received 88 per cent first-choice votes, nine per cent second choice and two per cent third choice.

In second place, but not even close to Stevenson's total, was Gov. Averell Harriman of New York. He got five per cent first-choice, 50 per cent second-choice and 23 per cent third. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee ran third with three per cent first-choice, 23 per cent second-choice and 30 yer cent third.

GOV. FRANK J. LAUSCHE of Ohio ran a poor fourth with only two votes to head the ticket. He got seven per cent as second-choice candidate and 15 per cent third choice.

Fourteen other Democrats—too many to name here—were suggested for the Presidency. But none got more than a few scattered votes.

For the Democratic vice-presidential nomination, Sen. Kefauver came out ahead with 34 per cent first-choice votes. Gov. Frank G. Clement of Tennessee was scond with nine per cent first-choice votes. Sen. Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota was third, but with only four per cent first-choice votes.

Surprisingly, Sen. John J. Sparkman of Alabama, who was Stevenson's running mate in 1952, got only three-to-five per cent of either first, second or third choice for the vice-presidency. In all, 45 Democrats were suggested for the vice-presidency. This indicates how wide open this race may be.

ON THE REPUBLICAN tally, with only 11 per cent of the newsmen believing President Eisenhower will run for a second term, it followed naturally that only eight per cent gave him as their first choice.

Chief Justice Warren was second with 19 per cent first-choice votes. President Eisenhower was third, and Gov. Thomas F. Dewey of New York and Sen. William Knowland of California were tied for fourth with five per cent of the first-choice votes.

Twenty-six Republicans were named as Presidential possibilities. Aside from those mentioned, none got more than four votes.

Nixon also headed the poll as likeliest vice-presidential candidate, with 17 per cent first-choice votes. Gov. Herter was next with 11 per cent first-choice votes. Harold Stassen of Minnesota and Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey tied for third place with 3.2 per cent of first, second and third-choice votes. Nobody alse showed any strength at all. The reporters' votes were scattered among 53 extremely dark horses.

A Proposal That Eisenhower Head Both Tickets in 1956

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 14 — Based upon a widely held belief that the American people ought not to be deprived of the services of President Eisenhower in a world crisis, there have been all sorts of suggestions advanced as to how to arrange satisfactorily for presidential succession if, in the event of re-election, he may perhaps be unable to continue in office for a full term, or wishes to resign when the emergency is over.

The latest suggestion — which reflects what at one time was Mr. Eisenhower's own thinking —calls for his nomination for President on both the Democratic and the Republican tickets, with each party naming a different candidate for the vice presidency.

Thus if, for example, the Democratic ticket in 1956 were Eisenhower and Stevenson, and if the Republican ticket were Eisenhower and Nixon, the two-party system would be preserved, because at the meeting of the electoral college, after the November election, the electors would cast their ballots for Eisenhower for President, and if the Democrats had won the national election, their own vice presidential nominee would be inaugurated.

LIKEWISE the two-party system would be maintained in the congressional elections, which would in no way be affected by the presence of the same presidential nominee at the top of the two major party tickets.

The naming of the same man on two tickets is not unusual in state and congressional elections. Senator Knowland, for instance, was elected in 1952 after having won the Democratic as well as the Republican nomination in the California primaries. Earl Warren, at present chief justice, was elected governor of California on both tickets in 1946.

Although it has not been disclosed before, it was Dwight Eisenhower, himself, who first broached the idea of running as a non-partisan nominee himself for the presidency. It happened in 1946, when, as chief of staff of the U. S. Army, he was visiting General MacArthur, then in Tokyo as the supreme commander of the allied forces in the Far East.

AFTER THE DAY'S inspection tasks were over and the two men realaxed in the evening, the talk turned to politics back home. In the press at that time, General Eisenhower's name was being prominently mentioned as a possible presidential nominee and there was speculation as to whether he would accept a Democratic or a Republican nomination. General MacArthur asked Ike if he intended to be a presidential candidate. General Eisenhower replied that he would be if he could be assured of the nomination on both the Republican and the Democratic tickets. He said he was convinced it was feasible. General MacArthur argued that this wasn't practical under the two-party system, but the two men were talking at that time about a normal situation in American politics.

Today the world crisis is such that precedents might readily be shattered. When, for example, in the middle of World War II, it seemed to the American people desirable to break with tradition and elect a president for a third and a fourth term, they did so. Shortly after the close of World War I, the "New York World"—a Democratic newspaper of nation-wide influence and a staunch supporter of President Wilson—in an editorial written by the late Frank Cobb, who was a distinguished journalist of those days, proposed that Herbert Hoover, then food administrator and very popular, be nominated for the presidency in 1920 by both political parties.

To name Mr. Eisenhower on both the Republican and Democratic tickets for a second term would violate no constitutional provision and would only deviate from a political habit. The latter would not in itself be a strong enough reason to overcome the public demand that the man should be permitted to serve as long as he is able.

POLITICIANS DO NOT like to change their habitual procedures, but it shouldn't disturb them too much. Certainly, judging from the recent statements of Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, who wants the national conventions to pick the vice presidential nominee ahead of the president, and who wants also a constitutional amendment to clear up the status of the vice president when a president is unable to serve, there is a tendency now to examine anew the whole problem of presidential succession and consider new methods.

The idea of naming Ike on both tickets is a simple solution, for it doesn't involve constitutional complications of any kind and meets a unique problem in the annuals of history.

Since the vice presidency moreover, would be held by the man whose political party had won the national election, he would have been tested on the fundamental issues that separate the parties and he would be chosen with the full knowledge of the voters that some time during the second term the president might resign in his favor.

THE PLAN WOULD present a challenge to both parties. There are, for instance, many Democratic leaders who are convinced that Stevenson could outrun Nixon. It is a chance for the Democrats to obtain all the advantages the Republicans would have in placing the popular Eisenhower at the top of the ticket without the disadvantage to the Democrats of trying to run a presidential nominee against Eisenhower.

Also, if the Republicans are so sure that "peace and prosperity" is a winning slogan for them, they should welcome the chance to fight the campaign on the vice presidential level. For if Ike should pledge himself to retire when the international emergency were over, the "number two" man would become president.

If the Democrats won Congress as well as the vice presidency they would also have the "number three" man in presidential succession. Few people realize that if President Eisenhower's illness recently had proved more serious, and if Vice President Nixon had succeeded him, then in the event anything had happened to Mr. Nixon, Speaker Rayburn, a Democrat, would, under the present law of presidential succession, have been inaugurated President.

The Republicans, of course, would, if they won the vice presidency and carried Congress, have their own "number two" and "number three" man in line to succeed the President.

The plan of a joint nomination for the Presidency offers, therefore, an equal opportunity to both parties—and, besides, it would conserve the health of Mr. Eisenhower by sparing him the strain of an active campaign.

Resistance to School Desegregation Active

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent

Washington—(NEA) — Determined opposition to the Supreme Court's decisions against public school segregation is picking up momentum in the south, according to latest reports received here.

The resistance is active, organized and widespread. In most cases, however, it does not follow the violent pattern of the discredited Ku Klux Klan. A number of its participants are respected community leaders.

At least 21 private organizations from Delaware, to Arkansas to Alabama are openly opposing compliance with the Supreme Court's decrees outlawing public school segregation. Six of them have sprung up in the last month.

These figures are based on information received by the Southern Education Reporting Service, an independent organization in Nashville, Tenn., set up to report objectively all developments in areas affected by the Court decisions. It's monthly publication is called "Southern School News."

* * *

HERE IS THE OPPOSITION breakdown where it is most effective.

Strongest pro-segregation activity comes from the Citizens' Council movement. It claims 50,000 members in Mississippi and is reported to be busy in Alabama and Louisiana. About 40 local councils have been formed in South Carolina.

The States Rights Council in Georgia is taking on state-wide importance. Opposition in Tennessee is centered in the Federation of Constitutional Government.

Defenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberty is working against mixed classrooms in Virginia. North Carolina has its Patriots of North Carolina, Inc.

"Characteristic of many of these groups but not all of them, is the fact that their leadership often is top drawer and that the groups themselves repeatedly renounce violence," says Don Shoemaker, executive director of the Southern Education Reporting Service.

"They are very careful to say they don't believe in violent resolution of this question. Some frankly say they are exerting economic and other pressure on Negroes not to petition for compliance with Supreme Court decisions. Others deny it."

Perhaps the most favorable case for these opposition groups was made recently by South Carolina's Lt. Gov. Ernest F. Hollings. He said:

"It is my belief that the Citizens' Council, by mobilizing the best leadership at the community level, can help to restore decency in government and maintain peace and security for all people, both white and Negro. I am glad that responsible spokesmen for the movement say they do not use organized economic pressure as a weapon against anyone."

It is pointed out, however, that pressure is being exerted by Citizens' Councils and other groups.

For example in Selma, Ala., heart of the state's Negro belt, Southern School News reports that 16 out of 29 Negroes who signed a desegregation petition were fired from their jobs. This estimate was given by Alston Keith, chairman of the Citizens' Council there.

* * *

He called the action "spontaneous" on the part of the respective employers. However, he added, "I don't believe there would have been the unity of action that there was without the educational work of the Citizens' Council."

Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, takes a dim view of the upswing of opposition groups.

"In the fight to attain full citizenship rights, the Negro is faced with a conspiracy to deny equality," he charges. "Here and there dotting the South, organizations have sprung up overnight. Some with fancy names like Virginia's Defenders of State Sovereignty like the White Citizens' Councils of Mississippi, which frankly declare their anti-Negro purpose."

One thing is certain. The extent of organized opposition is greater than many experts believe it would be. The Supreme Court's second ruling last May is now seen as the foremost factor for triggering this activity.

* * *

In effect, the Court told local school authorities they must make a prompt and reasonable start towards desegregation within practical limitations.

This stirred up many groups to resist, delay and stall. They took on many different names. Here are some that have not been noted:

White America, Inc. (Arkansas), Friends of Segregated Schools (Mississippi), Christian Americans Segregation Association of Delaware, Maryland Petition Committee, Tennessee Society to Maintain Segregation.

There are other one-man outfits, some of which are suspect as crackpot. Also among the 21 organizations is the National Association for the Advancement of White People, headed by Bryant Bowles, a resident of southern Delaware. But among responsible Southerners it is considered a reckless hate group.

Three Poor Little Kids

By FRANK TRIPP

This is a story with names omitted "to protect the innocent." I don't know the names anyway. It is a sequel to the recent column about "Old Halloweens" and is written in proof of the charge that parents, more than their children, create today's juvenile problems.

"You the gink that wrote that Halloween hogwash?" I heard.

"So you know all the answers," continued the vengeful voice, over the telephone. "Look, wise guy, you and all your sort make me sick. I work for a living; how can I know where my kids are and what they're doing?"

"Got a wife?" I asked him.

"Suppose I have—and that she works?"

"Night and day?"

"Eights hours, five days every week, and we're not hanging around baby sitting kids. We need recreation too; anyway it's no skin off your nose, and none of your business."

"What happens to children is anybody's business," I said.

"Not my children, mister," he snapped.

THE VOICE wanted to argue, or was it the liquor? I decided to argue as long as he would. I'm glad that I did, for the conversation revealed the thinking of the kind of people who never should have children.

But they do, usually lots of them, to run wild, perplex police, jam the courts and ultimately fill the jails.

"Look, fellow," I said, "you took the trouble to call me; mind if we visit a little?"

"Go ahead, your smart talk can't hurt me. Me and my wife was just sitting here having some drinks with another couple and we decided to go to the mat with birds like you."

"At home?" I asked. It was around 11 o'clock.

"Naw, not home. We get around and go places, and we know what folks think of busybodies like you—you stink!"

* * *

"HOW MANY children have you?" I ventured.

"More'n you, I bet; three of 'em," he growled.

"How old are they?"

"Try to find out, you snoop."

"Where are they now?"

"Home; we can't take kinds out every night."

"With a sitter?"

"Sitter me eye; who needs a baby sitter with a smart kid 13 in the house?"

"I only asked."

"Well you found out. All of 'em is big enough to go to school, smart aleck."

"School can't replace a home," I said.

"What do they have schools for? It's all we can do to feed and clothe 'em. I went to school—and I came out all right."

"Yes, I see."

* * *

"WHAT IF your kids got in trouble tonight, or your house burned?" I asked him.

"Good God man, don't you think we'd hear about it? What we got firemen and policemen for? Who's going to hang around the house all the time waiting for something to happen?"

"If something did happen, where would they find you?"

"Don't you wish you knew where we are—well you won't." There was raucous laughter in the background.

"I'd rather know where you live," I said. "I'd like to go there and see how three parentless children under 13 get along alone half of every night." He was real mad by now.

* * *

"GO CHASE yourself. We'll bring up our kids just like we damn please and if they don't turn out all right it won't be no fault of ours and no affair of yours.

"We'll feed 'em, never failed yet; it's up to schools to teach 'em, cops to keep 'em straight—there's nothing else we can do about it — nor anybody else that has to work."

"There are 16 hours a day that you don't work, and all day Saturday and Sunday," I reminded him.

"So what?"

"Ever go to church "

"We rest on Sundays."

"Sleep off your jags then?"

"Oh, go to hell"—click.

End of story—and, I fear, of three blameless children.

BEYOND THISTLES AND WEEDS

My brother is a retired dairy farmer. Several years ago a neglected farm came onto the market in the settling of an estate. Fences were down. Meadows had been mishandled for a long time. Weeds were everywhere.

The roof was off the silo. The two barns needed new sills. The house was storm-beaten and was crying for paint and general repairs.

It took more courage than capital to buy that farm. Yet my brother put $6,000 of his hard-earned savings on the line and took title. He moved to the farm and, utilizing the resources he found there, he soon had it in full production and everything in first class order.

Today the farm can be sold for $30,000. Of course, part of this growth in value is represented by inflation. But the real enhancement came from the discerning courage of an efficient argriculturist, who could see beyond thistles and mustard in the fields and erosion of buildings.

* * * *

There are many values listed on the New York Stock Exchange that prospective purchasers should carefully examine beyond their thistles and weeds. Five years were required to get my brother's $6,000 farm into good production. But when the turn came, it came fast.

THE STOCK VALUES I shall briefly describe here will develop interesting proportions in the five years ahead. Some of them may be sensational. Like the dairy farm, they have economic potentials not yet appreciated by the investing public.

Montgomery Ward is one. For many years, Sewell Avery was the top executive. Age often breeds conservatism. It did with this merchandiser. During the period of business expansion, 1944-1954, Ward stores declined from 648 to 568. The inflation of costs and prices discouraged him from expanding.

Cash piled up. Early this year cash and government securities totaled more than $325,000,000. Even this big mountain of money failed to arouse the interest of investors. There are only 6,502,000 common shares outstanding and with working capital of $600,000,000 it would seem that something would touch off desire for this equity. It didn't.

Avery, the octogenarian, is out and John Barr, 47, is in. An economic renaissance is under way. Millions of dollars are going into a sound expansion program and those who can look ahead five years should look long at Ward.

Northern Pacific is another. As a railroad this equity has little romance. But as a future oil producer it has glamour. The company owns 3,000,000 acres in the Williston oil basin. It is too early to tell what this potential is. Northern Pacific has 2,480,000 common shares outstanding. Consequently a stockholder holds more than one acre of oil land for each share.

Chrysler is a third. In these days of large capital structures (I shall write an article soon about this), Chrysler's is relatively small—8,702,000 common shares. Production and sales are running around $3,000,000,000 a year. Net profits of five per cent (General Motors makes ten per cent) would mean $150,000,000 a year or more than $16 a share.

Westinghouse Electric is a fourth. Present labor troubles are depressing the price of the stock. These will not last forever. The electrical equipment industry is one of the world's soundest. Tax selling will keep Westinghouse down in the remaining weeks of 1955.

United Fruit is a fifth Social and political problems are congenital with Central America. That is why many investors will not buy this good stock. But present prices for the shares amply discount all the risks.

If today I had the choice of buying by brother's $30,000 farm or of investing $30,000 in Montgomery Ward, Northern Pacific, Chrysler, Westinghouse Electric and United Fruit, I would buy the stocks.

Rebid Asked For Trouble

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a recent Pittsburgh tournament, South exercised great restraint in bidding only three hearts at his second turn. North having opened a dead minimum opening bid, should have passed gratefully. When North rebid, he asked for trouble—and trouble he got.

John McGervey and Gene Klawier, two of Pittsburgh's leading players, were the defenders in this case, which leads me to another observation. If you have to overbid, and we all occasionally sin in this direction, do it when your opponents are weak players, not when they are really good.

McGervey properly opened his long suit, hoping that his trump length would eventually embarrass declarer. The choice was a good one.

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the suit. McGervey took two more club tricks, cashed the ace of diamonds to make sure of setting the contract, and led a fourth club.

South could have saved a trick by ruffing in the dummy, but he made the mistake of discarding from the dummy. Klawier contributed to the defense by ruffing with the jack of spades, and South had to use up the ace of spades to win the trick.

Now South had to cash dummy's top spades and get back to his hand to lead the nine of spades. McGervey won with the ten of spades and led the fifth club. This forced out South's last trump and gave McGervey a second trump trick. He hadn't really expected to win two trumps with his mangy holding.

South was down three at his game contract in spades. This was, of course, several hundred points worse than playing the hand at three hearts and making that contract.

State Insurance On Health Aim Of CIO in 1956

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The New York State CIO Council seeks a comprehensive state health insurance system in its 1956 legislative program.

The council's executive board put the program forward yesterday with the announced aim of restoring New York state to "its lost position of leadership in social security, housing, education and other measures for advancing human welfare."

THE PROPOSED health insurance system would provide prepaid medical care, with the basic cost met through an employer-employe payroll tax.

The CIO's legislative program—to be sent to Gov. Averel Harriman and all members of the Legislature — stresses liberalization of unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and disability benefits.

The CIO wants maximum benefits under all three programs raised to $40 a week, plus dependency benefits of $4 a week for as many as three dependents. This would bring the ceiling to $52 a week, compared with the present maximum of $36 for unemployment and workmen's compensation and $33 for disability benefits.

AN INCREASE in the unemployment benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks also is sought. Another goal is repeal of the merit rating formula, under which employers get lower job insurance taxes when their unemployment rates are low.

The CIO wants disability benefits to be paid out of the unemployment insurance fund and not through the present payroll tax on workers and employers.

BEYOND THISTLES AND WEEDS

My brother is a retired dairy farmer. Several years ago a neglected farm came onto the market in the settling of an estate. Fences were down. Meadows had been mishandled for a long time. Weeds were everywhere.

The roof was off the silo. The two barns needed new sills. The house was storm-beaten and was crying for paint and general repairs.

It took more courage than capital to buy that farm. Yet my brother put $6,000 of his hard-earned savings on the line and took title. He moved to the farm and, utilizing the resources he found there, he soon had it in full production and everything in first class order.

Today the farm can be sold for $30,000. Of course, part of this growth in value is represented by inflation. But the real enhancement came from the discerning courage of an efficient argriculturist, who could see beyond thistles and mustard in the fields and erosion of buildings.

* * * *

There are many values listed on the New York Stock Exchange that prospective purchasers should carefully examine beyond their thistles and weeds. Five years were required to get my brother's $6,000 farm into good production. But when the turn came, it came fast.

THE STOCK VALUES I shall briefly describe here will develop interesting proportions in the five years ahead. Some of them may be sensational. Like the dairy farm, they have economic potentials not yet appreciated by the investing public.

Montgomery Ward is one. For many years, Sewell Avery was the top executive. Age often breeds conservatism. It did with this merchandiser. During the period of business expansion, 1944-1954, Ward stores declined from 648 to 568. The inflation of costs and prices discouraged him from expanding.

Cash piled up. Early this year cash and government securities totaled more than $325,000,000. Even this big mountain of money failed to arouse the interest of investors. There are only 6,502,000 common shares outstanding and with working capital of $600,000,000 it would seem that something would touch off desire for this equity. It didn't.

Avery, the octogenarian, is out and John Barr, 47, is in. An economic renaissance is under way. Millions of dollars are going into a sound expansion program and those who can look ahead five years should look long at Ward.

Northern Pacific is another. As a railroad this equity has little romance. But as a future oil producer it has glamour. The company owns 3,000,000 acres in the Williston oil basin. It is too early to tell what this potential is. Northern Pacific has 2,480,000 common shares outstanding. Consequently a stockholder holds more than one acre of oil land for each share.

Chrysler is a third. In these days of large capital structures (I shall write an article soon about this), Chrysler's is relatively small—8,702,000 common shares. Production and sales are running around $3,000,000,000 a year. Net profits of five per cent (General Motors makes ten per cent) would mean $150,000,000 a year or more than $16 a share.

Westinghouse Electric is a fourth. Present labor troubles are depressing the price of the stock. These will not last forever. The electrical equipment industry is one of the world's soundest. Tax selling will keep Westinghouse down in the remaining weeks of 1955.

United Fruit is a fifth Social and political problems are congenital with Central America. That is why many investors will not buy this good stock. But present prices for the shares amply discount all the risks.

If today I had the choice of buying by brother's $30,000 farm or of investing $30,000 in Montgomery Ward, Northern Pacific, Chrysler, Westinghouse Electric and United Fruit, I would buy the stocks.

Why We Say--

ON THE CUFF

DETACHABLE CUFFS: It wasn't long ago when men always wore highly starched detachable cuffs. Unpaid balances at the "general store" were written on the cuff with the idea that they would be paid off quickly, presumably before laundry day.

Rebid Asked For Trouble

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

When today's hand was played in a recent Pittsburgh tournament, South exercised great restraint in bidding only three hearts at his second turn. North having opened a dead minimum opening bid, should have passed gratefully. When North rebid, he asked for trouble—and trouble he got.

John McGervey and Gene Klawier, two of Pittsburgh's leading players, were the defenders in this case, which leads me to another observation. If you have to overbid, and we all occasionally sin in this direction, do it when your opponents are weak players, not when they are really good.

McGervey properly opened his long suit, hoping that his trump length would eventually embarrass declarer. The choice was a good one.

East won the first trick with the ace of clubs and returned the suit. McGervey took two more club tricks, cashed the ace of diamonds to make sure of setting the contract, and led a fourth club.

South could have saved a trick by ruffing in the dummy, but he made the mistake of discarding from the dummy. Klawier contributed to the defense by ruffing with the jack of spades, and South had to use up the ace of spades to win the trick.

Now South had to cash dummy's top spades and get back to his hand to lead the nine of spades. McGervey won with the ten of spades and led the fifth club. This forced out South's last trump and gave McGervey a second trump trick. He hadn't really expected to win two trumps with his mangy holding.

South was down three at his game contract in spades. This was, of course, several hundred points worse than playing the hand at three hearts and making that contract.

A number of ex-pupils put on the musical program.

State Insurance On Health Aim Of CIO in 1956

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The New York State CIO Council seeks a comprehensive state health insurance system in its 1956 legislative program.

The council's executive board put the program forward yesterday with the announced aim of restoring New York state to "its lost position of leadership in social security, housing, education and other measures for advancing human welfare."

THE PROPOSED health insurance system would provide prepaid medical care, with the basic cost met through an employer-employe payroll tax.

The CIO's legislative program—to be sent to Gov. Averel Harriman and all members of the Legislature — stresses liberalization of unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation and disability benefits.

The CIO wants maximum benefits under all three programs raised to $40 a week, plus dependency benefits of $4 a week for as many as three dependents. This would bring the ceiling to $52 a week, compared with the present maximum of $36 for unemployment and workmen's compensation and $33 for disability benefits.

AN INCREASE in the unemployment benefit period from 26 to 39 weeks also is sought. Another goal is repeal of the merit rating formula, under which employers get lower job insurance taxes when their unemployment rates are low.

The CIO wants disability benefits to be paid out of the unemployment insurance fund and not through the present payroll tax on workers and employers.

Delegates Return From Hadassah National Convention

Mrs. Oscar London and Mrs. Murray Fletcher have returned from Chicago where they attended the 41st Annual Convention of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America. Hadassah's 300,000 members were represented by 3,000 delegates from all 48 states, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

A galaxy of noted speakers included Herman Wouk, author of the best seller "The Caine Mutiny;" Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, Philippine Ambassador to the United States; Abba S. Eban, Israel Ambassador to the United States; Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, who was in Israel early this year; Bruce McDaniel, former director of the U. S. Operations Mission in Israel, and many others.

Convention time was a time for informative discussions, inspiring addresses, fact-filled workshops, and getting the feel of a nation-wide organization of women believing profoundly in "fulfillment through service."

Hadassah's program aids Israel in several fashions. The organization maintains a network of hospitals and health stations in Israel and its members are participants in Israel's immigration and settlement program. The convention approved a budget for the coming year of $9,000,000 to aid Israel.

Mrs. R. Shulman, re-elected national president, in an interview, said that it was her view and that of Hadassah that in the present international situation "what is good for America is good for Israel." It is to the advantage of both the United States and Israel, she said, to prevent an arms race in the Middle East. "If the United States makes clear she will not permit Israel to be attacked by heavily armed Arab forces, an arms race may be averted."

PASSING THE PLATE

"Will you tell me about this situation and whether I did the right thing? The other evening at a dinner of eight, there were my husband and two other men and their wives and the host and hostess. I was seated at the right of the host. He carved and served the plates and he passed the first to me but did not tell me to keep it. But I did keep it. I wondered if I took too much for granted. I am not very well acquainted with these people—at least not with their serving habits—and I do not know whether his wife has herself served first or not. If she does, she certainly would have thought me rude. In other words, when a host does not ask a guest what she wants before he serves her, or does not tell her to keep the plate when he passes it to her, should she pass it on down and not keep it?"

Since you were seated on the right of the host, you were the proper one to be served first and therefore you were quite right. However, if you are younger than another woman sitting beyond, it would have been better then to ask the host, "Shall I pass this to Mrs. Jones?" He would then have said, "Yes" or "No, you keep it." But when there is no other woman beyond you except the hostess, then correctly you would be right to keep the plate without any comment.

Taking a Present

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to a birthday party given by the family of her boy friend, for his brother. I would like to know whether she should take the brother a present. She has met him only twice and this is a family party.

Answer: While she is not obliged to take a present (not even if all the others do) she herself will probably feel happier with a package of something to hand him. The "something" need be no more than a gadget of slight value. The important thing is to choose something his brother knows he likes.

PASSING THE PLATE

"Will you tell me about this situation and whether I did the right thing? The other evening at a dinner of eight, there were my husband and two other men and their wives and the host and hostess. I was seated at the right of the host. He carved and served the plates and he passed the first to me but did not tell me to keep it. But I did keep it. I wondered if I took too much for granted. I am not very well acquainted with these people—at least not with their serving habits—and I do not know whether his wife has herself served first or not. If she does, she certainly would have thought me rude. In other words, when a host does not ask a guest what she wants before he serves her, or does not tell her to keep the plate when he passes it to her, should she pass it on down and not keep it?"

Since you were seated on the right of the host, you were the proper one to be served first and therefore you were quite right. However, if you are younger than another woman sitting beyond, it would have been better then to ask the host, "Shall I pass this to Mrs. Jones?" He would then have said, "Yes" or "No, you keep it." But when there is no other woman beyond you except the hostess, then correctly you would be right to keep the plate without any comment.

Taking a Present

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter is going to a birthday party given by the family of her boy friend, for his brother. I would like to know whether she should take the brother a present. She has met him only twice and this is a family party.

Answer: While she is not obliged to take a present (not even if all the others do) she herself will probably feel happier with a package of something to hand him. The "something" need be no more than a gadget of slight value. The important thing is to choose something his brother knows he likes.

The Mature Parent

Making Good Decisions for Child Takes Moral Courage

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A grandmother who's been visiting her son has returned home depressed by his children's "lawlessness." She write, "Everything their mother should tell them to do she begs them to do with explanations of why they should do it. I think she knows that her 'reasoning' approach to her two little boys is a failure—and hangs on to it because she knows no other way to treat them . . . "

That's probably true.

Why shouldn't it be?

How many young people today grow up experienced in relationship with children? Who is it that they "approach"? Their group — people of their own age; the Older People—parents, teachers, employers. They know no children. Today, our disconnected, small family, father-mother-two-children kinship group makes friendships with little boys and girls as rare a teen-age experience as friendship with grandparents.

So what happens when they become parents themselves is terror of their new authority relationship. Inevitably, they try to adapt it to the only "approaches" they know.

The young father will take toward his three-year-old son the same half-teasing, half-joking "pally" attitude he takes to friends of his own age. A young mother, used to explaining herself to her parents and office supervisor, will give a small daughter those reasoning "explanations" that are actually bids for the child's support.

No wonder these "approaches" fail. Missing from them is the element of leadership that distinguishes the adult-child relationship from other ones.

Young parents can have an awful time until this begins to dawn on them. They're used to their young friends' sympathy with all their problems. They're used to older people's advice on their decisions.

It comes as a shock to discover that their babies offer neither sympathy nor advice on any problem—and that if you want rubbers on a small son who doesn't want them on, the decision to put them on him is made alone without his approval, without his support.

Let me say this to young parents struggling with their new authority relationship: Don't underestimate the tremendous moral courage it takes to exert good authority over children. It takes time to discover that our lonely decisions of authority have expressed love for the child who couldn't make them for himself.

Let me add this: Little children only make us miserable when we fear to make their decisions for them. It's their way of saying, "Oh, please stop trying to make us your pals and parents — and let us be your babies."

A FEW FAST FACTS: Imogene Coca's first TV appearance since she tore up her contract will be on a winter Max Liebman spectacular . . . Nat "King" Cole will play the lead in a TV version of "The Hot Mikado." . . . U. S. Steel hour is looking for a play for Linda Darnell; she said she'll appear in the right show . . . Rocky Graziano has been approached to appear with James Stewart in a coming Paramount picture . . . Biggest prize yet—a new car every year for the rest of their lives—will be awarded four winners on ABC-TV's Lawrence Welk show, in a contest supporting the National Safety Council's accident prevention program.

Maxie Rosenbloom was with some of his more intellectual friends, who were discussing the tension in the Near East. During the course of this conversation, one of them mentioned the Gaza Strip.

* * *

There'll be fewer splashes in Esther Williams' future. She's been practically reborn, as of Aug. 1 last, and there'll be some changes made. On that date, her exclusive contract with MGM ended. Now she can do other things, like her smash TV appearance on "Omnibus," which included a genteel strip tease.

"I loved working on 'Omnibus,'" Esther says. "I had to think on my feet. I think maybe that surprised some people, which is what I wanted. After all, I do have a water-logged brain up here." And she tapped her pretty head.

It is Miss Williams' belief that those soggy epics she did for MGM for 10 years need a rest.

"I used to go on the set and say some awfully silly lines," she says. "I'd think to myself, "Gee, I've said this same thing to the same people on the same set dozens of times.' The only thing that ever changed was the bathing suit."

So she would haunt the MGM bras, bringing scripts of a little meatier content, in an attempt to have them let her out. They would say, with a tired smile, that her pictures had made $45,000,000 in 10 years and why kill the swan that laid the golden egg. So back to the swimming pool.

But now it's all over. She has plans. She's considering five movie scripts; they'd all be made in Europe, and there's not a swimming pool in the lot. She may swim, but it would have to be an integral part of the story. These are, Esther says, "exotic stuff," which is what she wants.

The Mature Parent

Making Good Decisions for Child Takes Moral Courage

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

A grandmother who's been visiting her son has returned home depressed by his children's "lawlessness." She write, "Everything their mother should tell them to do she begs them to do with explanations of why they should do it. I think she knows that her 'reasoning' approach to her two little boys is a failure—and hangs on to it because she knows no other way to treat them . . . "

That's probably true.

Why shouldn't it be?

How many young people today grow up experienced in relationship with children? Who is it that they "approach"? Their group — people of their own age; the Older People—parents, teachers, employers. They know no children. Today, our disconnected, small family, father-mother-two-children kinship group makes friendships with little boys and girls as rare a teen-age experience as friendship with grandparents.

So what happens when they become parents themselves is terror of their new authority relationship. Inevitably, they try to adapt it to the only "approaches" they know.

The young father will take toward his three-year-old son the same half-teasing, half-joking "pally" attitude he takes to friends of his own age. A young mother, used to explaining herself to her parents and office supervisor, will give a small daughter those reasoning "explanations" that are actually bids for the child's support.

No wonder these "approaches" fail. Missing from them is the element of leadership that distinguishes the adult-child relationship from other ones.

Young parents can have an awful time until this begins to dawn on them. They're used to their young friends' sympathy with all their problems. They're used to older people's advice on their decisions.

It comes as a shock to discover that their babies offer neither sympathy nor advice on any problem—and that if you want rubbers on a small son who doesn't want them on, the decision to put them on him is made alone without his approval, without his support.

Let me say this to young parents struggling with their new authority relationship: Don't underestimate the tremendous moral courage it takes to exert good authority over children. It takes time to discover that our lonely decisions of authority have expressed love for the child who couldn't make them for himself.

Let me add this: Little children only make us miserable when we fear to make their decisions for them. It's their way of saying, "Oh, please stop trying to make us your pals and parents — and let us be your babies."

Maxie Rosenbloom was with some of his more intellectual friends, who were discussing the tension in the Near East. During the course of this conversation, one of them mentioned the Gaza Strip.

* * *

There'll be fewer splashes in Esther Williams' future. She's been practically reborn, as of Aug. 1 last, and there'll be some changes made. On that date, her exclusive contract with MGM ended. Now she can do other things, like her smash TV appearance on "Omnibus," which included a genteel strip tease.

"I loved working on 'Omnibus,'" Esther says. "I had to think on my feet. I think maybe that surprised some people, which is what I wanted. After all, I do have a water-logged brain up here." And she tapped her pretty head.

It is Miss Williams' belief that those soggy epics she did for MGM for 10 years need a rest.

"I used to go on the set and say some awfully silly lines," she says. "I'd think to myself, "Gee, I've said this same thing to the same people on the same set dozens of times.' The only thing that ever changed was the bathing suit."

So she would haunt the MGM bras, bringing scripts of a little meatier content, in an attempt to have them let her out. They would say, with a tired smile, that her pictures had made $45,000,000 in 10 years and why kill the swan that laid the golden egg. So back to the swimming pool.

But now it's all over. She has plans. She's considering five movie scripts; they'd all be made in Europe, and there's not a swimming pool in the lot. She may swim, but it would have to be an integral part of the story. These are, Esther says, "exotic stuff," which is what she wants.

Thinks Recent Election Good Sign for Party

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—New York State Democratic Chairman Michael Prendergast says last Tuesday's election results indicate that the Democrats will "sweep the state as before and, I think too, sweep the country" in next year's presidential election.

Prendergast says President Eisenhower "can't run," and predicts any Democratic presidential candidate could be elected over any other Republican in 1956.

Discussing Democratic gains in some normally Republican strongholds in local elections last Tuesday, he said:

"The trend is there. It started last fall with the election of Gov. (Averell) Harriman, and continued in the spring with village elections."

Prendergast said New York state Democrats will go to next year's national convention with Harriman "as the favorite son candidate from New York," and "we will be completely unified."

Prendergast said a presidential cabinet post for Democratic National Committeeman Carmine G. DeSapio would be "most advantageous to the country."

THE STATE CHAIRMAN was asked about the possibility of such a post for DeSapio—secretary of state in Harriman's administration and leader of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization—if the Democrats should win the presidency next year.

"So far as my own wishes are concerned, I would love to see him offered a cabinet post," Prendergast replied.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time folks ask me about old time sloops on the Hudson. One of our large sloops, called the Tanner, was built in Catskill in 1832 and hailed from Catskill until bought by the well-known captain called Gus.

Captain August Decker was to run it from Wilbur, carrying wood and stone to New York. He afterward sold her to Ezra Fitch to run in the stone and lumber trade. In the year about 1850 the Tanner sloop laid up at Rondout. There was a fire that winter near where she laid up. the sparks set her rigging on fire and her rigging and spar were burned to her deck. She was then rigged into a schooner and had a long topmast and jibboom Captain William Hyde then bought an interest in her and sailed her for nearly 40 years, carrying stone from Wilbur to eastern ports. "She carried her main mast away in a blow near Port Judith, and lost mast, rigging and mainsail." A fishing smack found it and towed it to Newport. The Tanner was still in the stone trade, on January 4, 1900 according to The Weekly Freeman of that date. Perhaps local residents of the Wilbur section have heard about this large sloop, the Tanner.

When one goes by the General Sharpe Mansion, the Chateau style brick house, now the Governor Clinton Hotel Annex, one can hardly visualize the social gathering held there during the gay 1800's. "General Sharpe was a royal entertainer, and many famous men visited him in Kingston. General Grant, when, president, visited him in 1873, with members of his cabinet, and a public reception was held at the Sharpe mansion on Albany avenue. Some years later General Grant and his family were again entertained by General Sharpe. General Arthur, before he became president of the United States, was his frequent guest, and when president visited him, and was given a welcome by Kingstonians. Many of the famous generals of the Civil War, among them Generals Hooker, Sherman, Kilpatrick and others were his personal guests at the Sharpe Mansion. The general was an impressive and eloquent public speaker. He had a commanding presence, a powerful voice and was at his best in describing army scenes." His last speech was when he presented the medals to Company M, New York Volunteers, on behalf of Kingston, shortly after its return from Honolulu. General Sharpe was born in Kingston in 1828. He was the son of Henry Sharpe, a merchant, and Helen Hasbrouck. He prepared for college at Kingston and Albany academies, and was graduated with honors at Rutgers in 1847 and studied law at Yale. In 1851 he was attached to the United States Legation at Vienna under Judge McCurdy of Connecticut, traveling in Europe for some five years. In 1854 he back, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Kingston until the outbreak of the Rebellion. He had an outstanding war record.

General Sharpe died in January of 1900, his wife died two years previous. She was Caroline Hasbrouck, a daughter of A Bruyn Hasbrouck, a member of Congress in 1825. He left two sons and a daughter. Severn Sharpe, eldest son was county judge in 1898. Henry G. Sharpe, second son, was a lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army. His daughter, Miss Katherine was married to Ira Davenport.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

JURY TAPPING

The final triumph of the egg-heads was to listen in on the deliberation of a jury. That is something EVERYONE can understand — and abhor.

The most astounding fact of this whole dirty business was that some Federal Judges — infected with egg-headism — should have given their approval to this slimy business.

Mr. Hutton

Judge and jury are separate parts of our judicial system. The jury are not the judge's hired help. When a jury retires to deliberate, they are beyond the power of Judges, President, Congress, the Army, or public opinion.

These judges had no more right to authorize a hidden microphone in a jury room, than they have to put one in your home and listen in on the talk of husband and wife.

And what about the egg-heads in the Ford Foundation who put up $400,000 of tax-free money to spy on American juries? And subsequently a million dollars more? What good could come out of such a "survey," except jobs for egg-heads? As soon as its results were made public, every jury in every court house in American would be bound to fear hidden spies.

Nothing could damage free and honest jury room discussions more than that.

The sooner Congress impeaches the egg-head judges, and makes it a public offense for anyone — including the egg-heads handling foundation funds — to spy on the administration of American justice, the better.

Battered by Axe, Hunter Claims

Utica, Nov. 14 (AP)—A hunter lay in critical condition today with head injuries he said he received when an unknown assailant leaped from the woods and battered him with an axe.

William Doyle, 27, of Waterville, was in a Utica hospital for treatment of a compressed fracture of the skull. The hospital said he was in critical condition but slightly improved.

Doyle wandered into the village of Thendara in the Adirondacks Saturday and was treated by a physician.

He told troopers that he was just entering the woods on a trail near the Thendara golf course when someone leaped from the woods and struck him. He said he could remembed nothing after that.

Doyle had left Thendara to join a hunting party at a campsite about three miles from the railroad station. He reappeared at the station five hours later with his head bleeding.

Atop the dome of the national Capitol is the Statue of Freedom, made entirely of bronze and weighing almost 15,000 pounds.

HEALTH FOR ALL

NO ROMANCE

Tuberculosis is a convenient disease for the novelist or playwright. It's been used by some of the greatest and some of the worst.

There's the romantic tragedy: The beautiful heroine who dies coughing delicately. Or there's the young genius who dies just as his masterpiece is recognized. In the "no one must know" type, our hero struggles to support his younger brothers, telling no one that he's ill; or the social butterfly refuses to be an invalid and plays out her life in hectic gaity.

There's rarely any mention, of course, of the fact that these charming people are spreading an infectious disease. That wouldn't fit the romantic picture.

It is true that pulmonary tuberculosis — tuberculosis of the lungs—has no obvious symptoms in its early stages. The disease can be present without either the victim or those near to him being aware of it. It can be months, even years, before the well-known symptoms are evident. And even these: Constant tiredness, loss of appetite, fever, night sweats, shortness of breath, and cough may be overlooked or attributed to some other cause.

However, symptoms aren't the measure of the danger of TB. It's what happens inside the body that's important. The old name for TB of the lungs—consumption—describes it well. The tissue of the lung is being eaten away, the ability of the lung to function weakened. People can be cured, that is, the wasting process can be stopped. But destroyed tissue can't be replaced.

The longer the disease has been allowed to go untreated, usually the greater the permanent damage. The person who has lost much lung tissue is a cripple, even though his disability can't be seen. His activity is limited both by his loss of lung function and by the fact that he must always guard against another outbreak of the disease, a recurrence that might be fatal. A crippled lung is not romantic to the individual who must live with it.

Thinks Recent Election Good Sign for Party

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—New York State Democratic Chairman Michael Prendergast says last Tuesday's election results indicate that the Democrats will "sweep the state as before and, I think too, sweep the country" in next year's presidential election.

Prendergast says President Eisenhower "can't run," and predicts any Democratic presidential candidate could be elected over any other Republican in 1956.

Discussing Democratic gains in some normally Republican strongholds in local elections last Tuesday, he said:

Prendergast said New York state Democrats will go to next year's national convention with Harriman "as the favorite son candidate from New York," and "we will be completely unified."

Prendergast said a presidential cabinet post for Democratic National Committeeman Carmine G. DeSapio would be "most advantageous to the country."

THE STATE CHAIRMAN was asked about the possibility of such a post for DeSapio—secretary of state in Harriman's administration and leader of Tammany Hall, the Manhattan Democratic organization—if the Democrats should win the presidency next year.

"So far as my own wishes are concerned, I would love to see him offered a cabinet post," Prendergast replied.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

From time to time folks ask me about old time sloops on the Hudson. One of our large sloops, called the Tanner, was built in Catskill in 1832 and hailed from Catskill until bought by the well-known captain called Gus.

Captain August Decker was to run it from Wilbur, carrying wood and stone to New York. He afterward sold her to Ezra Fitch to run in the stone and lumber trade. In the year about 1850 the Tanner sloop laid up at Rondout. There was a fire that winter near where she laid up. the sparks set her rigging on fire and her rigging and spar were burned to her deck. She was then rigged into a schooner and had a long topmast and jibboom Captain William Hyde then bought an interest in her and sailed her for nearly 40 years, carrying stone from Wilbur to eastern ports. "She carried her main mast away in a blow near Port Judith, and lost mast, rigging and mainsail." A fishing smack found it and towed it to Newport. The Tanner was still in the stone trade, on January 4, 1900 according to The Weekly Freeman of that date. Perhaps local residents of the Wilbur section have heard about this large sloop, the Tanner.

When one goes by the General Sharpe Mansion, the Chateau style brick house, now the Governor Clinton Hotel Annex, one can hardly visualize the social gathering held there during the gay 1800's. "General Sharpe was a royal entertainer, and many famous men visited him in Kingston. General Grant, when, president, visited him in 1873, with members of his cabinet, and a public reception was held at the Sharpe mansion on Albany avenue. Some years later General Grant and his family were again entertained by General Sharpe. General Arthur, before he became president of the United States, was his frequent guest, and when president visited him, and was given a welcome by Kingstonians. Many of the famous generals of the Civil War, among them Generals Hooker, Sherman, Kilpatrick and others were his personal guests at the Sharpe Mansion. The general was an impressive and eloquent public speaker. He had a commanding presence, a powerful voice and was at his best in describing army scenes." His last speech was when he presented the medals to Company M, New York Volunteers, on behalf of Kingston, shortly after its return from Honolulu. General Sharpe was born in Kingston in 1828. He was the son of Henry Sharpe, a merchant, and Helen Hasbrouck. He prepared for college at Kingston and Albany academies, and was graduated with honors at Rutgers in 1847 and studied law at Yale. In 1851 he was attached to the United States Legation at Vienna under Judge McCurdy of Connecticut, traveling in Europe for some five years. In 1854 he back, was admitted to the bar and practiced in Kingston until the outbreak of the Rebellion. He had an outstanding war record.

General Sharpe died in January of 1900, his wife died two years previous. She was Caroline Hasbrouck, a daughter of A Bruyn Hasbrouck, a member of Congress in 1825. He left two sons and a daughter. Severn Sharpe, eldest son was county judge in 1898. Henry G. Sharpe, second son, was a lieutenant colonel in the U. S. Army. His daughter, Miss Katherine was married to Ira Davenport.

Think It Through

By EDWARD F. HUTTON

JURY TAPPING

The final triumph of the egg-heads was to listen in on the deliberation of a jury. That is something EVERYONE can understand — and abhor.

The most astounding fact of this whole dirty business was that some Federal Judges — infected with egg-headism — should have given their approval to this slimy business.

Mr. Hutton

Judge and jury are separate parts of our judicial system. The jury are not the judge's hired help. When a jury retires to deliberate, they are beyond the power of Judges, President, Congress, the Army, or public opinion.

These judges had no more right to authorize a hidden microphone in a jury room, than they have to put one in your home and listen in on the talk of husband and wife.

And what about the egg-heads in the Ford Foundation who put up $400,000 of tax-free money to spy on American juries? And subsequently a million dollars more? What good could come out of such a "survey," except jobs for egg-heads? As soon as its results were made public, every jury in every court house in American would be bound to fear hidden spies.

Nothing could damage free and honest jury room discussions more than that.

The sooner Congress impeaches the egg-head judges, and makes it a public offense for anyone — including the egg-heads handling foundation funds — to spy on the administration of American justice, the better.

Poughkeepsie Tops Kingston, 13-0, Gains DUSO Grid Title

Pioneers Roll In Second Half; Johnson Shines

PHS Completes Unbeaten Campaign

By CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Stymied for two and one-half periods by a gallant Kingston High School team, the powerized Poughkeepsie High Pioneers broke loose in the latter part of the game to score a 13-0 triumph and capture the 1955 DUSO League football championship Saturday at Riverview Field in the Bridge City.

The DUSO title, and the unbeaten season which accompanied it, was the second in three years for the Poughkeepsie crew. It marked the eighth undefeated campaign for a Sam Kalloch-coached team.

Kingston, co-holder of the 1954 championship, took its fourth loss against three victories and its third straight shutout.

THE KINGSTONIANS, however, did not disgrace themselves. A four-touchdown underdog, the locals played brilliant defensive football for most of the game. The 13 points were the least Poughkeepsie has scored all season.

Kingston, in fact, even dominated the offensive play during the first two periods. The Maroons were inside Poughkeepsie's 25-yard line on three occasions.

In the second half, however, the tide slowly but surely turned. Kingston's attack bogged down and the Poughkeepsie offensive machine, finally recovering from a case of "fumbleitis," began to click.

And, as was expected, halfback Charley Johnson paced the scoring of the home team.

Closing out a brilliant career, Johnson passed eight yards to quarterback George Phillips for a third-period touchdown; on a one-foot plunge.

JOHNSON thus ended his four-year tenure with 24 touchdowns in 17 games. He missed most of his third season due to injuries. Saturday he gained a total of 128 yards in 11 carries.

A Johnson was also the big ground gainer for Kingston. Fullback Larry Johnson, turning in another steady performance, netted 62 of Kingston's 111 rushing yards. And he also shone in his defensive halfback post.

Kingston made a scoring bid the first time it got the ball.

STICKLES' opening kickoff sailed out of bounds, with Kingston taking over on its 40. Johnson plunged for eight, Ronnie Ashdown made four and then Jim "Junior" Jackson barrelled around left end for 24 yards and a first down on Poughkeepsie's 24.

But after Dick Richards picked up three on a quarterback sneak, the drive stalled. A 15-yard penalty for kicking, plus Ashdown's being dropped for a 15-yard loss, set the Maroons back. Poughkeepsie eventually took over on its 24.

Later in the period, Johnson fumbled and Marv Engle, Kingston sophomore end, recovered on the Blue 21. But the locals gained only six yards in three plays and on fourth down Jimmy Washburn intercepted a Richards pass in the PHS end zone. He was tackled by Ashdown for a touchback, the Blues taking over on the 20.

Kingston took over on a punt late in the second period and moved from the Poughkeepsie 44 to within nine yards of the goal before time ran out. Runs by Ashdown and Johnson plus on 15-yard penalty on the Pioneers moved the ball downfield.

ASHDOWN was lost to the Maroon cause midway in the third quarter. Carrying the ball, the little Kingston scooter was smacked in the head by Stickles' arm. Ashdown had to be carried off the field. He suffered a slight concussion.

Johnson started matters rolling with a 25-yard gallop around end. Phillips, on a draw play, made nine. A Phillips-to-Johnson pass gained nothing and then Phillips made three on a sneak.

A five-yard penalty set the Bridge City eleven back temporarily. Then Johnson passed to Phillips for a 15-yard gain.

Two plays later, Johnson flipped to Phillips again. The latter made a leaping catch in the end zone for the TD.

KINGSTON was offside on the first point try as Stickles' placekick sailed wide. On the second attempt, Stickles faked the boot and threw successfully to Johnson.

Poughkeepsie went 54 yards for its second touchdown midway in the fourth quarter. Johnson and Stickles led the drive.

Johnson ripped off 20 on another end sweep. Stickles took the ball on an end around, faked a pass and charged down the right side. He went 34 yards before being stopped on the KHS one-foot line.

Johnson ran off tackle on the next play, scoring standing up. Stickles's kick was wide.

The home team threatened to score again before the game ended. Taking over on downs on Kingston's 29, Ronnie Levine completed a pass to Stickles for a first down on the KHS 14. But on the final play of the game Kingston tackle Gene Nagele intercepted a pass, killing the bid.

Pitcher Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati batted only .198 but his 17 hits during the season drove in 14 runs. He hit three homers.

Myers Stars as Middletown Rallies to Beat NFA, 21-12

Tailback Sherwood "Sherk" Myers put on a one-man scoring show Saturday at the Newburgh Free Academy field as he led his Middletown High School teammates to a 21-12 conquest over the upset-minded NFA football team.

Myers scored all the Middie touchdowns—one in the second period and two in the third—after the Goldbacks had gotten off to a 12-0 lead early in the game.

It was the second win in seven starts for the Middies. Newburgh lost is sixth straight.

Myers ran three yards for the first Middletown touchdown.

In the second period Myers sparked the downfield drives and then ran 25 and five yards fors scores. Monty Decker placekicked each extra point.

Don Anderson ripped 28 yards on a quick opener for Newburgh's initial touchdown. Later in the first period Al Beccaccio scored on a 20-yard end run, climaxing an 80-yard march. Bill Cotton's two placekicks were blocked.

Fouls Help Knicks Bag 4 Straight

Felix Cans 12 of 13 In Win Over Boston

By The Associated Press

The foul-line sharpshooting of Ray Felix and Carl Braun has the New York Knickerbockers in first place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association with an unblemished record.

The Knicks downed the Rochester Royals 94-91 in the first half of a doubleheader at Fort Wayne last night. The pistons grabbed their first victory of the young season, 93-79 over Syracuse in the nightcap after suffering three straight setbacks.

The twin bill was the only league action last night.

THE KNICKS, who clipped Boston's Celtics 96-95 Saturday in New York, made it four in a row, although scoring eight goals fewer than the Royals from the field. Big Felix, however, canned 12 of 13 free throws and Braun made six out of six as the New Yorkers counted 36 foul shots to 17 for Rochester. Royal rookie Maurice Stokes flipped in 19 points before fouling out, one more than Felix.

The defeat dropped Rochester to second place in the Western Division with a 2 and 3 mark.

The Pistons moved into third place in the division on the strength of their initial triumph, while the Minneapolis Lakers fell to the cellar with a 1-5 mark.

Kingston Gridders Praised by Foes; 'Best We've Played,' Winners Say

Poughkeepsie High School's football players heaped words of unstinted praise on their Kingston opponents after Saturday's game.

The newly-crowned DUSO champions, who beat the local outfit 13-0, rated Bill Burke's crew the toughest they'd met all season.

The Pioneer linemen were impressed and not a little surprised by the play of the Kingston forwards. "Those guys were the best we've played," said one PHS player. "How they ever got beat by 41 points (Mont Pleasant) is beyond me."

The Bridge City squad singled out Kingston center Pete Blanschan as the best. "He's a rough boy," commented Blue pivotman Richie Elwell, no slouch himself.

STICKLES declared that there was "nothing dirty" about his tackle of Ashdown in the third period. Ashdown had to leave the game after suffering a slight concussion. "It was an arm tackle, that's all," said six-five, 215-pound Monty, who's considering a collegiate career at Boston College. "I'm sorry it happened," he concluded.

* * *

Ashdown has been confined to bed since returning from the game. "We're sure he'll be back in time for the Newburgh game," Burke said this morning.

Johnson isn't planning a college career. "Guess I'll go in the service," he said when asked what his post-high school plans were.

* * *

* * *

Phillips, who had performed brilliantly as a passer, had a rought time Saturday. Both he and Johnson got a "rush job" from the KHS line. They completed only seven of 23 attempts.

* * *

It was a beautiful day. Many of the estimated 4,000 fans were in shirtsleeves throughout the cloudless afternoon.

* * *

ASHDOWN was the KHS captain for the day. Ronnie, who weighs only 140 pounds, looked like a pygmy alongside Johnson and Stickles.

The bands of both schools were great. Kingston wins our vote.

Poughkeepsie fans staged a riotous celebration after the contest. The students paraded through Poughkeepsie's main streets, accompanied by their band. Later, despite the efforts of Bridge City police, the rooters tore down both goal posts.

* * *

"I told you they'd be tough," said Kalloch of Kingston after the struggle. The KHS team gained many admirers Saturday. It played probably its best game and didn't allow the Pioneers to achieve the "revenge" for the 54-0 shellacking they received a year ago.

Rangers Still Trail Canadiens

(By The Associated Press)

New York's forward line of Larry Popein, Dean Prentice and Andy Bathgate, used largely as a defensive unit last season, is proving to be a prolific offensive trio this year. But good as they are, the Rangers can't seem to gain any ground on the pace setting Montreal Canadiens in the National Hockie League.

WHILE THE Rangers were turning back the injury-riddled Toronto Maple Leafs last night 4-1 with the line of Popein, Prentice and Bathgate producing three of the goals, the Canadiens defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 2-0 to remain five points in front.

The Boston Bruins lost a chance to keep pace with the Rangers when they had to settle for a scoreless tie with the Detroit Red Wings. The tie, however, lifted the Wings out of last place. They were replaced by Toronto.

Poughkeepsie Tops Kingston, 13-0, Gains DUSO Grid Title

Pioneers Roll In Second Half; Johnson Shines

PHS Completes Unbeaten Campaign

By CHUCK NORD
(Freeman Sports Staff)

Stymied for two and one-half periods by a gallant Kingston High School team, the powerized Poughkeepsie High Pioneers broke loose in the latter part of the game to score a 13-0 triumph and capture the 1955 DUSO League football championship Saturday at Riverview Field in the Bridge City.

The DUSO title, and the unbeaten season which accompanied it, was the second in three years for the Poughkeepsie crew. It marked the eighth undefeated campaign for a Sam Kalloch-coached team.

Kingston, co-holder of the 1954 championship, took its fourth loss against three victories and its third straight shutout.

THE KINGSTONIANS, however, did not disgrace themselves. A four-touchdown underdog, the locals played brilliant defensive football for most of the game. The 13 points were the least Poughkeepsie has scored all season.

Kingston, in fact, even dominated the offensive play during the first two periods. The Maroons were inside Poughkeepsie's 25-yard line on three occasions.

In the second half, however, the tide slowly but surely turned. Kingston's attack bogged down and the Poughkeepsie offensive machine, finally recovering from a case of "fumbleitis," began to click.

And, as was expected, halfback Charley Johnson paced the scoring of the home team.

Closing out a brilliant career, Johnson passed eight yards to quarterback George Phillips for a third-period touchdown; on a one-foot plunge.

JOHNSON thus ended his four-year tenure with 24 touchdowns in 17 games. He missed most of his third season due to injuries. Saturday he gained a total of 128 yards in 11 carries.

A Johnson was also the big ground gainer for Kingston. Fullback Larry Johnson, turning in another steady performance, netted 62 of Kingston's 111 rushing yards. And he also shone in his defensive halfback post.

Kingston made a scoring bid the first time it got the ball.

STICKLES' opening kickoff sailed out of bounds, with Kingston taking over on its 40. Johnson plunged for eight, Ronnie Ashdown made four and then Jim "Junior" Jackson barrelled around left end for 24 yards and a first down on Poughkeepsie's 24.

But after Dick Richards picked up three on a quarterback sneak, the drive stalled. A 15-yard penalty for kicking, plus Ashdown's being dropped for a 15-yard loss, set the Maroons back. Poughkeepsie eventually took over on its 24.

Later in the period, Johnson fumbled and Marv Engle, Kingston sophomore end, recovered on the Blue 21. But the locals gained only six yards in three plays and on fourth down Jimmy Washburn intercepted a Richards pass in the PHS end zone. He was tackled by Ashdown for a touchback, the Blues taking over on the 20.

Kingston took over on a punt late in the second period and moved from the Poughkeepsie 44 to within nine yards of the goal before time ran out. Runs by Ashdown and Johnson plus on 15-yard penalty on the Pioneers moved the ball downfield.

ASHDOWN was lost to the Maroon cause midway in the third quarter. Carrying the ball, the little Kingston scooter was smacked in the head by Stickles' arm. Ashdown had to be carried off the field. He suffered a slight concussion.

Johnson started matters rolling with a 25-yard gallop around end. Phillips, on a draw play, made nine. A Phillips-to-Johnson pass gained nothing and then Phillips made three on a sneak.

A five-yard penalty set the Bridge City eleven back temporarily. Then Johnson passed to Phillips for a 15-yard gain.

Two plays later, Johnson flipped to Phillips again. The latter made a leaping catch in the end zone for the TD.

KINGSTON was offside on the first point try as Stickles' placekick sailed wide. On the second attempt, Stickles faked the boot and threw successfully to Johnson.

Poughkeepsie went 54 yards for its second touchdown midway in the fourth quarter. Johnson and Stickles led the drive.

Johnson ripped off 20 on another end sweep. Stickles took the ball on an end around, faked a pass and charged down the right side. He went 34 yards before being stopped on the KHS one-foot line.

Johnson ran off tackle on the next play, scoring standing up. Stickles's kick was wide.

The home team threatened to score again before the game ended. Taking over on downs on Kingston's 29, Ronnie Levine completed a pass to Stickles for a first down on the KHS 14. But on the final play of the game Kingston tackle Gene Nagele intercepted a pass, killing the bid.

Pitcher Joe Nuxhall of Cincinnati batted only .198 but his 17 hits during the season drove in 14 runs. He hit three homers.

Myers Stars as Middletown Rallies to Beat NFA, 21-12

Tailback Sherwood "Sherk" Myers put on a one-man scoring show Saturday at the Newburgh Free Academy field as he led his Middletown High School teammates to a 21-12 conquest over the upset-minded NFA football team.

Myers scored all the Middie touchdowns—one in the second period and two in the third—after the Goldbacks had gotten off to a 12-0 lead early in the game.

It was the second win in seven starts for the Middies. Newburgh lost is sixth straight.

Myers ran three yards for the first Middletown touchdown.

In the second period Myers sparked the downfield drives and then ran 25 and five yards for scores. Monty Decker placekicked each extra point.

Don Anderson ripped 28 yards on a quick opener for Newburgh's initial touchdown. Later in the first period Al Beccaccio scored on a 20-yard end run, climaxing an 80-yard march. Bill Cotton's two placekicks were blocked.

Rhea Leads Singles Eliminations Qualifiers With 4731

Ferraro, Oster Crispell Also Roll Into Finals

Poughkeepsie Star Cracks 1670 Block

Dick Rhea, the brilliant Poughkeepsie southpaw, fired a 1670 series to take first place in the 24-game national singles eliminations which ended Sunday at the Bowlodrome.

In second place when the day's shooting started, Rhea climbed over the tournament favorite, Johnny Ferraro, who barely made the grade in a third place tie with Jerry Oster, the 18-year-old Kingston flash.

Rhea's 24-game total of 4731 gave him a 45-pin margin over Whitey Crispell of Kingston, who posted 1637 yesterday.

OSTER, eighth at the start of the block, fired a 1646 to tie Ferraro at 4656 for the third and fourth spots. Tom Carlino, who ran into tough luck in the late going, finished 16 pins off the pace at 4640.

Rhea, Crispell, Ferraro and Oster will meet in the finals next Sunday at the Central Recs. The winner gets an expenses-paid trip to Chicago for the National Singles tournament in December. The Hudson Valley Bowling Proprietors Association is sponsor of the area elimination.

With only six open frames in the eight games—three splits and three misses—Rhea was the apitome of steadiness as he reeled off six straight "200' sets—210, 200, 239, 215, 210, and 233, then finished off with 186 and 177. His average for the 24-game route was a sparkling 197.3.

CRISPELL, averaging 194.20 for the distance, shot games of 222, 236, 213, 195, 196, 192, 171, 212.

Ferraro was balked by a rash of splits—eight in the first two sets—and was perilously close to elimination when he rallied for a final three-game effort of 233-170-195. His other games were 161, 172, 206, 191 and 159.

Oster mised two spares for 176 in his fifth game but was otherwise sharp with 191, 208, 206, 205, 210, 243 and 207 for a finishing kick of 660.

Tom Amato, in the running for two blocks, shot 1512 on games of 176, 200, 160, 190, 173, 186, 225 and 202.

Other Kingston scores:

TOM CARLINO (5th)—210, 183, 203, 171, 258, 168, 193, 212-1598.

LARRY PETERSON (13th)—182, 180, 180, 189, 154, 179, 195, 202-1461.

INSERT RHEA ....

The major casualty of the tournament was the highly regarded Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie, who slumped to 1486 and an overall total of 4539, dropping to eighth place.

The national wires carried an item early this month on the death of a fabulous 65-year-old Rochester bowler.

The name was Len Wittman and the wire accounts said Mr. Wittman once bowled 11, yes 11, perfect scores of 300 in one day. Not a week, a month, a year or a lifetime. But in one day he knocked off 11 perfect scores.

The account further reported Wittman rolled 36 games that eventful day for an average of 280. The date was Feb. 16, 1909.

"Despite his remarkable exploits on the alleys," the account went on, "Mr. Wittman never won any titles in national bowling competition."

Probably not, because Mr. Wittman happened to be the greatest "one-alley" bowler in all the ages of bowling. He rolled all those 300 scores on one alley. It never occurred to him to use a pair of alleys in orthodox fashion.

Barney Spinella of Brooklyn, who was himself an all-time ABC immortal, once told us that Wittman had a standing bet he would roll a 300 in any three tries on that alley in Rochester, for the right kind of financial inducement. He seldom lost, and he must have rolled hundreds of 300 scores during his career.

• Check That Bank Account:

If you are president of a bowling league whose treasurer is bonded by the American Bowling Congress, don't neglect your responsibility. The KBA already has outlined the new rule to you.

Success of the ABC's renowned automatic league bonding program is the responsibility of both the league president and treasurer. A new regulation this season (1955-56) makes the president liable for suspension from the ABC, if funds belonging to his league are mishandled, it is pointed out by Andy Stuart, manager of the ABC bonding program.

The ABC bond, which automatically goes into effect when the league becomes sanctioned, offers complete coverage of funds when (1) league funds are deposited weekly in the name of league in a banking institution; (2) two elected officers of the league are required to co-sign for all withdrawals; (3) the league president checks the bank balance at least once a month.

Dairy Hits 1123-3134 On 7 and 8

Jones Dairy finds it difficult to win three games on its home drives, even with a 3134, like they shot Saturday against the Middletown Merchants at the Bowlodrome.

The Dairymen were heading for a 3200 set at the end of two games—with slams of 1123 and 1090. Then came an inexplicable slump to 921 as the Merchants breezed with 1028.

The 1123 and 3134 aggregate are new league records.

CHRIS GALLO posted 689, shooting 500 in the first two games and 189 in the third. Jerry Oster piled up 643 with 234-247 in the first two games. Johnny Ferraro was more consistent with 244-221-209 for 674. Arnie Koeppel anchored the Merchants with 201-237-627.

Forst Packers gained ground on the league leaders with a 3-0 road win at Poughkeepsie Myers. Randy Kelder led with a pair of 207s and 582. Whitey Crispell tossed 235-564.

Fred Rice fired 217-585 as Elston Sport Shop shut out the Ten Pin Grill. The Sportsmen tossed a 1020 solo. Frank Leskie hit 216-580.

Orange Bowl Draws Top New Year's Day Prize In Oklahoma-Maryland

By ED CORRIGAN
(The Associated Press)

Out of the welter of confusion that made up the college football picture today there emerged one solid fact—the Orange Bowl is going to present the four-star, gilt-edged attraction on Jan. 2, Oklahoma vs. Maryland.

The picture still is clouded in the other three major bowls with perhaps a dozen assorted teams still in the running for berths. If they all demanded undefeated teams, they wouldn't operate because Oklahoma and Maryland are the only major clubs in the country that haven't been whipped.

Rose—UCLA has the inside track, but Oregon State also has a chance as the Pacific Coast Conference representative. Michigan can get the Big 10 nod if it defeats Ohio State Saturday. If Ohio State wins, then Michigan State will make the trip to Pasadena.

Sugar—All is confusion, following Pitt's 26-7 victory over a West Virginia team that had won 11 games in a row over a two-year span. The Southeastern Conference winner usually is the host team, but any of five schools still can take the league title.

Cotton — Texas Christian, which by the form chart, should wind up operations as runner-up to Texas A and M in the Southwest Conference, should be nominated host. Officials say Navy, Auburn, Georgia Tech and Mississippi all are in the running for the visiting bid.

If things work out as the Tournament of Roses officials' hope, the Rose Bowl should put on a good attraction. UCLA must get past Southern California this week to clinch the Pacific Coast Conference title, and do it without Ronnie Knox who suffered a broken leg in last Saturday's 19-17 squeaker over Washington.

If Southern Cal wins, however, and Oregon State, the surprise team in the league, beats Oregon, there will be fireworks for sure. That would leave Oregon State with a 6-1 record and UCLA with 5-1. State would have a talking point. Although its 38-0 early-season pasting at the hands of UCLA would count against it.

An Ohio State victory Saturday would give the Buckeyes the conference championship, but they played in the Rose Bowl last New Year's and league rules prohibit a team from making the trip two years' running.

As for the Sugar Bowl, two scouts from New Orleans were in the stands when Pitt clubbed the Mountaineers 26-7. They were all set to get out their pens and sign up Pappy Lewis and his team. Now, they say, they'll have to take a wait-and-see attitude. They spent quite a while in the Pitt dressing room after the game.

The Sugar Bowl folks still must look around for a host team. They usually take the Southeastern Conference winner and there still are five teams—Mississippi, Auburn, Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Vanderbilt—in the running. If Mississippi, currently the leader, can defeat Mississippi State Nov. 26, the race is over no matter what the others do.

THE COTTON BOWL is going to have to take the second-best in the Southwest Conference as its host team. Texas A and M, which is on probation, can lock up the title by burying floundering Texas Thanksgiving Day. The Aggies are prohibited from playing post-season games this year for violating recruiting practices.

As for last Saturday's games, the only major upsets were Pitt's victory over West Virginia, the second year in a row the Panthers have dealt the Mountaineers their first defeat of the season, and Princeton's 13-0 Ivy League triumph over Yale. The result knocked Yale out of first place and installed the men of Tigertown. Princeton can clinch the title by halting Dartmouth Saturday.

Oklahoma, No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, rolled to its 27th straight victory, this one at the expense of Iowa State 52-0. Maryland took care of its last threat to the AAC title by whacking Clemson 25-12.

Michigan State trounced Minnesota 42-14; Michigan shut out Indiana 30-0; Ohio State swept past Iowa 20-10; Notre Dame topped North Carolina 27-7; Army shattered Penn 40-0, and Navy humbled Columbia 47-0 in other major games.

Eagle Day, Mississippi quarterback, averaged 41.7 yards on 11 punts against Georgia and Kentucky this season.

Brooks Hits 539 In Ferraro Mixer

Howard Brooks was the No. 1 kegler in the Ferraro Mixed League with 206-166-167 for 539.

Sally Wiltt led the distaff department with 509 on lines of 177, 178 and 154. Joe Koskie fired 505, Charles DeCicco 510, Frank Parks Sr. 516.

BILL TRINKLE shot 494, Mary Diamond 455, Laura Le May 414, Clayton Bruck 482, Sis Balash 204-466, Larry Oster 479, Sue Healy 445, Bob Houghtaling 474, Ellie Helmbold 406, Fred Zimmerman 460, Harold Smith 497, Jack Duffner 450, Marcia Clark 410.

Terry Beckert posted 406, Bill Beckert 464, Mabel Chapman 416, Louis Petromale 489.

Team results:

DUSO Sales 0, Hayes Lincoln-Mercury 3; The Odettes 3, Team No. 3 (0); Ulster Engineering 2, Nadler Motors 1; Central Lunch 1, Sue's Beauty Shop 2; West Hurley Inn 2, B&R Miller 1; Jim DeCicco's Trucking 3, Alpine 0; Anchorage 2, Rainbow Inn 1.

Dick Prendergast, Homewood, Ill., sophomore end, led Notre Dame's squad in playing time in his first game. He played 46 minutes in the 1955 opener against SMU, the Irish winning 17-0.

Rhea Leads Singles Eliminations Qualifiers With 4731

Ferraro, Oster Crispell Also Roll Into Finals

Poughkeepsie Star Cracks 1670 Block

Dick Rhea, the brilliant Poughkeepsie southpaw, fired a 1670 series to take first place in the 24-game national singles eliminations which ended Sunday at the Bowlodrome.

In second place when the day's shooting started, Rhea climbed over the tournament favorite, Johnny Ferraro, who barely made the grade in a third place tie with Jerry Oster, the 18-year-old Kingston flash.

Rhea's 24-game total of 4731 gave him a 45-pin margin over Whitey Crispell of Kingston, who posted 1637 yesterday.

OSTER, eighth at the start of the block, fired a 1646 to tie Ferraro at 4656 for the third and fourth spots. Tom Carlino, who ran into tough luck in the late going, finished 16 pins off the pace at 4640.

Rhea, Crispell, Ferraro and Oster will meet in the finals next Sunday at the Central Recs. The winner gets an expenses-paid trip to Chicago for the National Singles tournament in December. The Hudson Valley Bowling Proprietors Association is sponsor of the area elimination.

With only six open frames in the eight games—three splits and three misses—Rhea was the apitome of steadiness as he reeled off six straight "200' sets—210, 200, 239, 215, 210, and 233, then finished off with 186 and 177. His average for the 24-game route was a sparkling 197.3.

CRISPELL, averaging 194.20 for the distance, shot games of 222, 236, 213, 195, 196, 192, 171, 212.

Ferraro was balked by a rash of splits—eight in the first two sets—and was perilously close to elimination when he rallied for a final three-game effort of 233-170-195. His other games were 161, 172, 206, 191 and 159.

Oster mised two spares for 176 in his fifth game but was otherwise sharp with 191, 208, 206, 205, 210, 243 and 207 for a finishing kick of 660.

Tom Amato, in the running for two blocks, shot 1512 on games of 176, 200, 160, 190, 173, 186, 225 and 202.

Other Kingston scores:

TOM CARLINO (5th)—210, 183, 203, 171, 258, 168, 193, 212-1598.

LARRY PETERSON (13th)—182, 180, 180, 189, 154, 179, 195, 202-1461.

JOE AUSANIO (25th)—187 148, 175, 191, 202, 203, 150, 190.

INSERT RHEA ....

The major casualty of the tournament was the highly regarded Phil Versace of Poughkeepsie, who slumped to 1486 and an overall total of 4539, dropping to eighth place.

The national wires carried an item early this month on the death of a fabulous 65-year-old Rochester bowler.

The name was Len Wittman and the wire accounts said Mr. Wittman once bowled 11, yes 11, perfect scores of 300 in one day. Not a week, a month, a year or a lifetime. But in one day he knocked off 11 perfect scores.

The account further reported Wittman rolled 36 games that eventful day for an average of 280. The date was Feb. 16, 1909.

"Despite his remarkable exploits on the alleys," the account went on, "Mr. Wittman never won any titles in national bowling competition."

Probably not, because Mr. Wittman happened to be the greatest "one-alley" bowler in all the ages of bowling. He rolled all those 300 scores on one alley. It never occurred to him to use a pair of alleys in orthodox fashion.

Barney Spinella of Brooklyn, who was himself an all-time ABC immortal, once told us that Wittman had a standing bet he would roll a 300 in any three tries on that alley in Rochester, for the right kind of financial inducement. He seldom lost, and he must have rolled hundreds of 300 scores during his career.

• Check That Bank Account:

If you are president of a bowling league whose treasurer is bonded by the American Bowling Congress, don't neglect your responsibility. The KBA already has outlined the new rule to you.

Success of the ABC's renowned automatic league bonding program is the responsibility of both the league president and treasurer. A new regulation this season (1955-56) makes the president liable for suspension from the ABC, if funds belonging to his league are mishandled, it is pointed out by Andy Stuart, manager of the ABC bonding program.

The ABC bond, which automatically goes into effect when the league becomes sanctioned, offers complete coverage of funds when (1) league funds are deposited weekly in the name of league in a banking institution; (2) two elected officers of the league are required to co-sign for all withdrawals; (3) the league president checks the bank balance at least once a month.

Dairy Hits 1123-3134 On 7 and 8

Jones Dairy finds it difficult to win three games on its home drives, even with a 3134, like they shot Saturday against the Middletown Merchants at the Bowlodrome.

The Dairymen were heading for a 3200 set at the end of two games—with slams of 1123 and 1090. Then came an inexplicable slump to 921 as the Merchants breezed with 1028.

The 1123 and 3134 aggregate are new league records.

CHRIS GALLO posted 689, shooting 500 in the first two games and 189 in the third. Jerry Oster piled up 643 with 234-247 in the first two games. Johnny Ferraro was more consistent with 244-221-209 for 674. Arnie Koeppel anchored the Merchants with 201-237-627.

Forst Packers gained ground on the league leaders with a 3-0 road win at Poughkeepsie Myers. Randy Kelder led with a pair of 207s and 582. Whitey Crispell tossed 235-564.

Fred Rice fired 217-585 as Elston Sport Shop shut out the Ten Pin Grill. The Sportsmen tossed a 1020 solo. Frank Leskie hit 216-580.

Orange Bowl Draws Top New Year's Day Prize In Oklahoma-Maryland

By ED CORRIGAN
(The Associated Press)

Out of the welter of confusion that made up the college football picture today there emerged one solid fact—the Orange Bowl is going to present the four-star, gilt-edged attraction on Jan. 2, Oklahoma vs. Maryland.

The picture still is clouded in the other three major bowls with perhaps a dozen assorted teams still in the running for berths. If they all demanded undefeated teams, they wouldn't operate because Oklahoma and Maryland are the only major clubs in the country that haven't been whipped.

Rose—UCLA has the inside track, but Oregon State also has a chance as the Pacific Coast Conference representative. Michigan can get the Big 10 nod if it defeats Ohio State Saturday. If Ohio State wins, then Michigan State will make the trip to Pasadena.

Sugar—All is confusion, following Pitt's 26-7 victory over a West Virginia team that had won 11 games in a row over a two-year span. The Southeastern Conference winner usually is the host team, but any of five schools still can take the league title.

Cotton — Texas Christian, which by the form chart, should wind up operations as runner-up to Texas A and M in the Southwest Conference, should be nominated host. Officials say Navy, Auburn, Georgia Tech and Mississippi all are in the running for the visiting bid.

If things work out as the Tournament of Roses officials' hope, the Rose Bowl should put on a good attraction. UCLA must get past Southern California this week to clinch the Pacific Coast Conference title, and do it without Ronnie Knox who suffered a broken leg in last Saturday's 19-17 squeaker over Washington.

If Southern Cal wins, however, and Oregon State, the surprise team in the league, beats Oregon, there will be fireworks for sure. That would leave Oregon State with a 6-1 record and UCLA with 5-1. State would have a talking point. Although its 38-0 early-season pasting at the hands of UCLA would count against it.

An Ohio State victory Saturday would give the Buckeyes the conference championship, but they played in the Rose Bowl last New Year's and league rules prohibit a team from making the trip two years' running.

As for the Sugar Bowl, two scouts from New Orleans were in the stands when Pitt clubbed the Mountaineers 26-7. They were all set to get out their pens and sign up Pappy Lewis and his team. Now, they say, they'll have to take a wait-and-see attitude. They spent quite a while in the Pitt dressing room after the game.

The Sugar Bowl folks still must look around for a host team. They usually take the Southeastern Conference winner and there still are five teams—Mississippi, Auburn, Georgia Tech, Tennessee and Vanderbilt—in the running. If Mississippi, currently the leader, can defeat Mississippi State Nov. 26, the race is over no matter what the others do.

THE COTTON BOWL is going to have to take the second-best in the Southwest Conference as its host team. Texas A and M, which is on probation, can lock up the title by burying floundering Texas Thanksgiving Day. The Aggies are prohibited from playing post-season games this year for violating recruiting practices.

As for last Saturday's games, the only major upsets were Pitt's victory over West Virginia, the second year in a row the Panthers have dealt the Mountaineers their first defeat of the season, and Princeton's 13-0 Ivy League triumph over Yale. The result knocked Yale out of first place and installed the men of Tigertown. Princeton can clinch the title by halting Dartmouth Saturday.

Oklahoma, No. 1 in the Associated Press poll, rolled to its 27th straight victory, this one at the expense of Iowa State 52-0. Maryland took care of its last threat to the AAC title by whacking Clemson 25-12.

Michigan State trounced Minnesota 42-14; Michigan shut out Indiana 30-0; Ohio State swept past Iowa 20-10; Notre Dame topped North Carolina 27-7; Army shattered Penn 40-0, and Navy humbled Columbia 47-0 in other major games.

Eagle Day, Mississippi quarterback, averaged 41.7 yards on 11 punts against Georgia and Kentucky this season.

Eagles Upset Browns; Bears Rout Rams 24-3 To Tie Western Lead

By RIP WATSON
(The Associated Press)

With the National Football League season two-thirds over, the Cleveland Browns have finally showed that they're human after all. They have a weakness, too. They can't protect a 17-0 lead.

Cleveland, boasting a proud record of nine conference titles in nine years, seemed headed for its seventh consecutive victory of the current drive for still another conference crown yesterday when Otto Graham and his mates ran up 17 points in the first 12 minutes against Philadelphia.

But the Eagles, preseason choices to win the Eastern Conference title, suddenly lived up to their advance billing. The Philadelphia line stopped the Browns cold the rest of the way and Adrian Burk set the pace as the Eagles' offensive unit ran up 33 points. This sudden form reversal, coupled with Washington's 7-0 victory over San Francisco in a bruising defensive battle, left Cleveland only a game ahead with a 6-2 mark to Washington's 5-3.

THE WESTERN Conference, meanwhile, was thrown into a deadlock as the Chicago Bears mauled Los Angeles 24-3 to pull even with the Pacific Coast entry at 5 wins and 3 losses. It could have been a three-way tie, too, if the Baltimore Colts had not been upset by New York 17-7. Because of the loss, the Colts now find themselves tied for third instead of first, for Green Bay also boasted a 4-4 record after clouting the Chicago Cardinals 31-14 behind Tobin Rote's three touchdown passes.

The rejuvenated Detroit Lions, who stunned their loyal fans by dropping their first six games, won their second in succession, a 31-28 victory over Pittsburgh as a desperate Steeler rally fell short.

Burk, hitherto strictly a passer, discovered that he could run with the ball, too. His two touchdown passes to Bill Stribling, plus a field goal by Dick Bielski, brought Philadelphia up to 17-16 starting the final quarter.

BOB HUDSON got Philadelphia going in the last quarter. First he blocked a punt and the ball rolled out of bounds on Cleveland's one. Burk promptly plunged over for a touchdown and the Eagles stretched the lead to 26-17 when Hudson recovered a fumble and Bielski booted another field goal, this one from 40 yards out.

The Bears, gunning for their first championship since 1946 as a going away present for retiring Coach George Halas, exhibited a bone-crushing defense. The bewildered Los Angeles boys, who generally have no trouble scoring, never passed the Chicago 21 and had to resort to a face-saving field goal, 41 yards by Bud Mcfadin in the last minute, to avoid a shutout. The Rams trailed 24-0 at the time and a touchdown wouldn't have helped much, at that.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Baltimore's star rookie, was held to 40 yards in 13 carries by the Giants. The veteran Charley Conerly pitched for one New York touchdown (a 28-yard shot to Ken Mcafee in the end zone) and set up another touchdown and Ben Agajanian's 32-yard field goal with his passing.

Woodstock Varsity Downs Monticello, 107-85

Carpouzis Rims 40 Points In Opening Tilt

The Woodstock players, with three men scoring in double figures, were in front from start to finish. They dominated the first half but were held on even terms after the intermission.

Carpouzis, however, was bettered in the scoring column by Sonny Hornbeck of the Chiefs, who racked up 43. Andy McCullough added 19 for the losers.

In a preliminary game, the Yelow Jackets of the YMCA "B" division edged the Woodstock junior varsity 46-41. Alan VanWagenen had 22 points for the Woodstock cagers. John Burris' 19 topped the Jackets.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

We'd been doing a little preseason prospecting in the grouse covers, checking on this year's crop of shot-dodgers. When we came to where the cluster of worn-out trees grew in the stonewall corner, Luke said, "Well, here's where I missed the best chance for a double I'll ever have, remember?"

I did remember, and Luke hadn't really missed his double. He'd hit both birds, hard; but we'd lost one of them by failure to mark both falls carefully.

IT WAS REALLY my fault. I'd been only five steps back of Luke when the two grouse flushed and split for a right and left, and I should have kept at least one eye glued on the brush clump where the first bird tumbled. Heaven knows you could hardly expect him to spot both falls exactly, not when a man has a lifetime chance for a double on grouse.

Whether or not you're hunting with a dog that is trained to retrieve, memorizing the spot where a bird falls is a prime necessity, not to mention a positive conservation measure. Nothing to be proud of in knocking down six pheasants to get two, or leaving a whole family of ducks crippled somewhere along the marsh in order to bring home a full limit to roast.

By and large, when two men are gunning together, its the job of each to check on the falls from his friend's shots as well as from his own.

THREE YEARS back Luke and I were operating on ducks, our blind set up on a creek that wound through the marsh and served as a highway for bunches of teal that, for a while, traded up and down as thick as Sunday traffic. We really had a ball for a few minutes, tipping those little speedsters down out of the wild blue yonder.

We quit when we knew we had splashed eight, seven of them upside down waving their feet among and beyond the decoys. Picked up those seven, too, but where was the eighth?

Both of us had a distinct recollection that Luke had rared back on one that veered over the blind and had plopped him dead behind us in the marsh. But where? Neither of use could remember, and though we sloshed around in the mud for half an hour we never did find that little eating duck.

AND YOU KNOW what? The traffic of teal up and down that creek quit cold right then and there. We sat it out until the hot early-season sun stopped all duck travel, but nary another passed within cannon range of us, once we lost that unmarked bird. Poetic justice, I guess.

From here on out both Luke and I make it a practice to do as much spotting as we do shooting—means more birds to bring home.

RAM GETS A BEAR HUG — Los Angeles Rams' end Tom Fears, center, tries to snag a first period pass tossed by quarterback Norm Van Brocklin, but Chicago Bears' back Ken Gorgian, right, and unidentified teammate have different ideas. Eagles Upset Browns; Bears Rout Rams 24-3 To Tie Western Lead

By RIP WATSON
(The Associated Press)

With the National Football League season two-thirds over, the Cleveland Browns have finally showed that they're human after all. They have a weakness, too. They can't protect a 17-0 lead.

Cleveland, boasting a proud record of nine conference titles in nine years, seemed headed for its seventh consecutive victory of the current drive for still another conference crown yesterday when Otto Graham and his mates ran up 17 points in the first 12 minutes against Philadelphia.

But the Eagles, preseason choices to win the Eastern Conference title, suddenly lived up to their advance billing. The Philadelphia line stopped the Browns cold the rest of the way and Adrian Burk set the pace as the Eagles' offensive unit ran up 33 points. This sudden form reversal, coupled with Washington's 7-0 victory over San Francisco in a bruising defensive battle, left Cleveland only a game ahead with a 6-2 mark to Washington's 5-3.

THE WESTERN Conference, meanwhile, was thrown into a deadlock as the Chicago Bears mauled Los Angeles 24-3 to pull even with the Pacific Coast entry at 5 wins and 3 losses. It could have been a three-way tie, too, if the Baltimore Colts had not been upset by New York 17-7. Because of the loss, the Colts now find themselves tied for third instead of first, for Green Bay also boasted a 4-4 record after clouting the Chicago Cardinals 31-14 behind Tobin Rote's three touchdown passes.

The rejuvenated Detroit Lions, who stunned their loyal fans by dropping their first six games, won their second in succession, a 31-28 victory over Pittsburgh as a desperate Steeler rally fell short.

Burk, hitherto strictly a passer, discovered that he could run with the ball, too. His two touchdown passes to Bill Stribling, plus a field goal by Dick Bielski, brought Philadelphia up to 17-16 starting the final quarter.

BOB HUDSON got Philadelphia going in the last quarter. First he blocked a punt and the ball rolled out of bounds on Cleveland's one. Burk promptly plunged over for a touchdown and the Eagles stretched the lead to 26-17 when Hudson recovered a fumble and Bielski booted another field goal, this one from 40 yards out.

The Bears, gunning for their first championship since 1946 as a going away present for retiring Coach George Halas, exhibited a bone-crushing defense. The bewildered Los Angeles boys, who generally have no trouble scoring, never passed the Chicago 21 and had to resort to a face-saving field goal, 41 yards by Bud Mcfadin in the last minute, to avoid a shutout. The Rams trailed 24-0 at the time and a touchdown wouldn't have helped much, at that.

Alan (The Horse) Ameche, Baltimore's star rookie, was held to 40 yards in 13 carries by the Giants. The veteran Charley Conerly pitched for one New York touchdown (a 28-yard shot to Ken Mcafee in the end zone) and set up another touchdown and Ben Agajanian's 32-yard field goal with his passing.

Carpouzis Rims 40 Points In Opening Tilt

The Woodstock players, with three men scoring in double figures, were in front from start to finish. They dominated the first half but were held on even terms after the intermission.

Carpouzis, however, was bettered in the scoring column by Sonny Hornbeck of the Chiefs, who racked up 43. Andy McCullough added 19 for the losers.

In a preliminary game, the Yelow Jackets of the YMCA "B" division edged the Woodstock junior varsity 46-41. Alan VanWagenen had 22 points for the Woodstock cagers. John Burris' 19 topped the Jackets.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

BY WARREN PAGE
Shooting Editor

We'd been doing a little preseason prospecting in the grouse covers, checking on this year's crop of shot-dodgers. When we came to where the cluster of worn-out trees grew in the stonewall corner, Luke said, "Well, here's where I missed the best chance for a double I'll ever have, remember?"

I did remember, and Luke hadn't really missed his double. He'd hit both birds, hard; but we'd lost one of them by failure to mark both falls carefully.

IT WAS REALLY my fault. I'd been only five steps back of Luke when the two grouse flushed and split for a right and left, and I should have kept at least one eye glued on the brush clump where the first bird tumbled. Heaven knows you could hardly expect him to spot both falls exactly, not when a man has a lifetime chance for a double on grouse.

Whether or not you're hunting with a dog that is trained to retrieve, memorizing the spot where a bird falls is a prime necessity, not to mention a positive conservation measure. Nothing to be proud of in knocking down six pheasants to get two, or leaving a whole family of ducks crippled somewhere along the marsh in order to bring home a full limit to roast.

By and large, when two men are gunning together, its the job of each to check on the falls from his friend's shots as well as from his own.

THREE YEARS back Luke and I were operating on ducks, our blind set up on a creek that wound through the marsh and served as a highway for bunches of teal that, for a while, traded up and down as thick as Sunday traffic. We really had a ball for a few minutes, tipping those little speedsters down out of the wild blue yonder.

We quit when we knew we had splashed eight, seven of them upside down waving their feet among and beyond the decoys. Picked up those seven, too, but where was the eighth?

Both of us had a distinct recollection that Luke had rared back on one that veered over the blind and had plopped him dead behind us in the marsh. But where? Neither of use could remember, and though we sloshed around in the mud for half an hour we never did find that little eating duck.

AND YOU KNOW what? The traffic of teal up and down that creek quit cold right then and there. We sat it out until the hot early-season sun stopped all duck travel, but nary another passed within cannon range of us, once we lost that unmarked bird. Poetic justice, I guess.

From here on out both Luke and I make it a practice to do as much spotting as we do shooting—means more birds to bring home.

A Good Fit

Tokyo, Nov. 14 (AP)—You go abroad and the first thing you know you are responsible for your country. When A. Boyd Campbell, Jackson, Miss., president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce was here last May for an International Chamber of Commerce meeting, he met Miss Reiko Sakamoto, who had a beef. The pretty 19-year-old student at Sacred Heart College told him she had received a pair of shoes from the United States, each of a different size. Campbell took them back with him and exchanged them in New York ctiy. The new shoes have arrived. "And they fit, too," said Miss Sakamoto happily.

Locked In

St. Louis, Nov. 14 (AP)—A youth explained to police he spent four hours tearing a hole in the roof of a securely locked building yesterday and dropped inside. Then he couldn't get out. Police, attracted by his banging on a door and the flashing of his light, couldn't get in. It took them an hour to locate an official of the firm with a set of keys. The youth, who identified himself as Henry Rebeck, 19, was booked suspected of burglary.

Bomb Explodes

Nicosia, Cyprus, Nov. 14 (AP)—A time bomb exploded under a British Navy patrol boat in the drydock at Famagusta early today. No one was injured but the vessel was badly damaged.

New York, Nov. 14 (AP)—The stock market was sharply higher today, with the bulk of the strength centered in the blue chip issues.

Prices in the early afternoon were up 1 to 3 points in most areas of the list, and some gains were even higher.

Trading was swift throughout, with the pace right around 2,500,000 shares for the entire day. Friday's total, with the market strong, was 2,000,000.

Prices were generally higher on the American Exchange with volume heavy.

The bond market was higher on balance. U. S. Government issues traded over the counter were easy.

Woodstock

More characteristic of Walters' own personality, however, are his ceramic sculptured animals, unique for their subtle touch of humor and wit. It is the smug smile on the face of the Walters' lion in the Woodstock Library, the worried look on the lion's mate, now in the museum in Ogunquit. It is the stretched neck and inquisitive look on his cat, The Old Lady, in the Metropolitan Museum's Cat In Tall Grass. His works are included in the collections of Nelson D. Rockefeller, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and many others. Since he became ill some months ago, four of his pieces have been purchased by the Ogunquit Museum.

The artist studied at the Minneapolis School of Art and at the New York School of Art under Robert Henri. He was a Guggenheim fellow in 1935 and 1936, and he also served recently on the jury for the Tiffany Foundation awards.

Walters is survived by three sisters and a brother.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the Artists Memorial Hill, at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, officiating.

Kills Family, Self

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP)—Police said today a business executive killed his wife and two young sons and then took his own life because of concern over admitted embezzlements and loss of his job. Authorities said they have established that Allison R. Sanger, 47, shot his wife of 21 years, Winifred, and stabbed to death their two sons, Allison, Jr., 14, and Russell, 9, before he shot himself to death. Medical Examiner William A. R. Chapin said the deaths in the Sanger residence occurred between 9 p. m. and midnight (EST) Saturday night.

Ulcer Rate Rises

Geneva, Nov. 14 (AP)—The death rate from gastric ulcers is nearly four times as high in Japan as in the United States, the United Nations World Health Organization (WHO) reported today. But fewer Japanese are dying of ulcers each year, while the American death rate is increasing.

Pilot Lives

nose over. The control stick was jammed fast.

"I RADIOED the station my controls were locked, that I was going straight in," he told newsmen. "I shut off the engine, opened the speed brake, pulled my visor down over my eyes and yanked up the arm rest of the seat to automatically eject myself.

"The last thing I remember was the meter in front of my face reading faster than sound. The next thing was waking up in the hospital five days later.

Smith was picked up by fishermen aboard a nearby cruiser. His shoes, socks, helmet and mask were gone. His clothes were in ribbons.

HIS ARMS had flailed so violently that his wrist watch, tight-fitting gloves and a ring on his finger had been shaken off. He was blind several days. Surgery was required on his intestine.

Smith said he's eager to "get back flying again." The medics have restricted him from flying until a year after the accident.

A more recent case of bailing out at supersonic speed was reported Saturday by the British war ministry in London. Flying Officer Henry Holland, 22, an RAF pilot, said his jet fighter went into a dive at 40,000 feet over the North Sea and with his speed at 700 miles per hour he was unable to pull out. He said he parachuted at 10,000 feet and landed at sea four miles off the coast.

A target-towing tug rescued him. Attendants at Ipswich Hospital said he suffered fractures of the arm and pelvis and two black eyes.

Fatally Injured

Norwood, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Joseph LaCoss, 85, of Norwood, was injured fatally last night when he was struck by an automobile as he crossed the Main street of this St. Lawrence county community. The sheriff's office identified the driver of the car as Glenn Ivan Niklaw, 18, also of Norwood. No charges had been filed against Niklaw, the office reported.

Crackdown on Bribes

Seoul, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today ordered a crackdown on schools which he said have been accepting bribes to admit students. Rhee said in a statement that such schools will be closed starting next semester. He said some schools are "taking advantage of the ill-balance between the number of applicants and the school capacity."

Mass. Polio Up

Boston, Nov. 14 (AP)—The Massachusetts polio total for 1955 reached 3,765 today with 13 new cases reported to the State Department of Public Health. A year ago 953 cases had been listed on this date.

A Good Fit

Tokyo, Nov. 14 (AP)—You go abroad and the first thing you know you are responsible for your country. When A. Boyd Campbell, Jackson, Miss., president of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce was here last May for an International Chamber of Commerce meeting, he met Miss Reiko Sakamoto, who had a beef. The pretty 19-year-old student at Sacred Heart College told him she had received a pair of shoes from the United States, each of a different size. Campbell took them back with him and exchanged them in New York ctiy. The new shoes have arrived. "And they fit, too," said Miss Sakamoto happily.

Locked In

St. Louis, Nov. 14 (AP)—A youth explained to police he spent four hours tearing a hole in the roof of a securely locked building yesterday and dropped inside. Then he couldn't get out. Police, attracted by his banging on a door and the flashing of his light, couldn't get in. It took them an hour to locate an official of the firm with a set of keys. The youth, who identified himself as Henry Rebeck, 19, was booked suspected of burglary.

Bomb Explodes

Nicosia, Cyprus, Nov. 14 (AP)—A time bomb exploded under a British Navy patrol boat in the drydock at Famagusta early today. No one was injured but the vessel was badly damaged.

swiftly moving brush, decorates the pottery.

The artist studied at the Minneapolis School of Art and at the New York School of Art under Robert Henri. He was a Guggenheim fellow in 1935 and 1936, and he also served recently on the jury for the Tiffany Foundation awards.

Walters is survived by three sisters and a brother.

Funeral services will be held Tuesday, Nov. 15, at the Artists Memorial Hill, at 2 p. m., with the Rev. Harvey I. Todd, officiating.

Kills Family, Self

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 14 (AP)—Police said today a business executive killed his wife and two young sons and then took his own life because of concern over admitted embezzlements and loss of his job. Authorities said they have established that Allison R. Sanger, 47, shot his wife of 21 years, Winifred, and stabbed to death their two sons, Allison, Jr., 14, and Russell, 9, before he shot himself to death. Medical Examiner William A. R. Chapin said the deaths in the Sanger residence occurred between 9 p. m. and midnight (EST) Saturday night.

Ulcer Rate Rises

nose over. The control stick was jammed fast.

"I RADIOED the station my controls were locked, that I was going straight in," he told newsmen. "I shut off the engine, opened the speed brake, pulled my visor down over my eyes and yanked up the arm rest of the seat to automatically eject myself.

"The last thing I remember was the meter in front of my face reading faster than sound. The next thing was waking up in the hospital five days later.

Smith was picked up by fishermen aboard a nearby cruiser. His shoes, socks, helmet and mask were gone. His clothes were in ribbons.

HIS ARMS had flailed so violently that his wrist watch, tight-fitting gloves and a ring on his finger had been shaken off. He was blind several days. Surgery was required on his intestine.

Smith said he's eager to "get back flying again." The medics have restricted him from flying until a year after the accident.

A more recent case of bailing out at supersonic speed was reported Saturday by the British war ministry in London. Flying Officer Henry Holland, 22, an RAF pilot, said his jet fighter went into a dive at 40,000 feet over the North Sea and with his speed at 700 miles per hour he was unable to pull out. He said he parachuted at 10,000 feet and landed at sea four miles off the coast.

A target-towing tug rescued him. Attendants at Ipswich Hospital said he suffered fractures of the arm and pelvis and two black eyes.

Fatally Injured

Norwood, N. Y., Nov. 14 (AP)—Joseph LaCoss, 85, of Norwood, was injured fatally last night when he was struck by an automobile as he crossed the Main street of this St. Lawrence county community. The sheriff's office identified the driver of the car as Glenn Ivan Niklaw, 18, also of Norwood. No charges had been filed against Niklaw, the office reported.

Crackdown on Bribes

Seoul, Nov. 14 (AP)—President Syngman Rhee today ordered a crackdown on schools which he said have been accepting bribes to admit students. Rhee said in a statement that such schools will be closed starting next semester. He said some schools are "taking advantage of the ill-balance between the number of applicants and the school capacity."

The hotel is to have heavy sound-proofing that will keep out the noise of arriving and departing planes. It is to be built in a low, rambling style that will not be a hazard to planes.
